City Council Speeds Work On Improvement Projects

STORM DRAIN AND SUBWAY PLANS READY

PLANS FOR SPEEDING UP

a number of large improvement projects, including installation of a city storm drain and construction of the $150,000 East Fourth street subway project, were under way today in the city engineer's office, it was announced by City Engineer Clyde Jenken. The projects will give employment to a large number of persons.

Preliminary plans for construction of a city storm drain, extending south to the city limits, and then crossing the Irvine property at the Eddie Martin flying field, will be submitted to the city council next Monday night, Jenken stated, adding that several alternative plans will be considered for the project. The plan of taking the storm waters over the Irvine property would result in the conservation of a considerable quantity of rain water which otherwise would go to waste into the ocean, inquiries disclosed. A portion of the expense, it was stated, would be borne by the Irvine company, provided the mains were taken across the ranch property.

City Engineer Jenken also reported that considerable progress has been made in the plans for the East Fourth street subway at the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe railroad tracks, and it is expected to have proceedings started within a few weeks.

Although the matter of extending Ocean avenue into Orange county through paving a stretch of what is now known as Fairhaven avenue, has not come before the council, such an improvement project may be taken up at a later date, it was stated. The paving of Fairhaven between Flower and Lincoln street, would result in a through highway straight from Seventh street in Long Beach to Lemon Heights in Orange county.

Woman's Lawsuit Against Charles Heil Is Settled

A $50,000 heart balm suit filed against Charles Heil, wealthy Santa Ana man, by Miss Lois Deneau, has been settled out of court in Los Angeles.

The end of the litigation came today when attorneys notified Judge Elliott Craig that the case was settled, and the jurist dropped it from his calendar.

Most of the girl's claims were based on letters of an ardent nature alleged to have been written to her by Heil when he was traveling in the orient.

Miss Deneau declared Heil promised to marry her but avoided her after August 10, 1929.

Citrus Sales Show Gain Of $16,000,000

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13. (UP)—California citrus growers during the season just closed increased their earnings approximately $16,000,000 over the previous year despite the fact that shipments fell far short in quantity of the 1929-30 season, it was announced today by the California Fruit Growers' exchange.

The high record for value came from shipments of 66,656 cars of oranges, lemons and grapefruit from California and Arizona, compared with 88,366 carloads the year before when growers returns were nearly $119,000,000.

WILBUR PLANS TO PROBE INTO SHALE CHARGES

Will Act Even If Senate Public Lands Committee Does Not

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. (UP)—Secretary of Interior Wilbur apparently is determined to force an investigation of Colorado oil shale matters, regardless of whether the senate public lands committee takes up the matter this winter.

In a letter to Chairman Don B. Colton of the House public lands committee, Wilbur asked for additional legislation to clarify the oil shale question, brought to public attention by charges of Ralph S. Kelley, former field agent, that the lands had been administered in the interests of large oil companies. Kelley's charges were refuted in a department of justice investigation.

If the House committee needs Wilbur's suggestion it probably will begin an inquiry of the whole subject. Chairman Nye of the senate public lands committee has indicated his belief that the question should be investigated by this group. Thus, the way now has been opened for action by both houses.

Wilbur's letter suggested legislative relief in three particulars. 1.—That the government should waive claims that defaults in assessment work automatically forfeit the claims.

2.—That congress set forth specifically that the 1920 act changed the policy of the mining law so that a claim is subject to forfeiture for failure to do assessment work.

3.—That a future date be fixed upon which all claims whose assessment work has not been resumed shall be deemed abandoned, and providing that after a later date no further applications shall be granted.

EINSTEIN WILL ARRIVE JAN. 2 IN CALIFORNIA

Famous Scientist Plans to Take Special Course at Caltech

PASADENA, Nov. 13. (UP)—Dr. Albert Einstein, noted German scientist, is expected to arrive in Pasadena January 2 for three months of study at the California Institute of Technology, it was made known today.

The scientist, accompanied by his wife, a secretary, and Dr. Walter Mayer, mathematician of the University of Vienna, who recently was given a scholarship by the Jewish Macy Foundation, will leave Berlin November 30. They will sail from Antwerp December 2 aboard the Bergeland, round the world steamer, landing at San Francisco January 1.

The visit of Dr. Einstein will bring together for study three winners of the Nobel prize in physics. Dr. Albert A. Michelson, 78 year old head of the department of physics at the University of Chicago, won the award in 1921, and Dr. Robert A. Millikan, head of California Tech, was given the prize in 1923.

Dr. Michelson at present is conducting experiments here in the speed of light, a field closely related to Dr. Einstein's experiments in electro magnetism.

"The United Press dispatch was the first indication I have had that Dr. Einstein is to come to California," Dr. Michelson said. "Naturally, I will be very glad to see him and will do all I can to aid him during his stay. I have hoped for this visit since the doctor lectured in Chicago in 1921."

The staff of M. Wilson observatory of the Carnegie Institute, which has confirmed the major portions of Dr. Einstein's theory of relativity, will work with the visitor in his further studies into the field theory—a move to place all manifestations of nature into a single mathematical equation. This is explained as a theory that reconciles the phenomena of gravitation and electro magnetic properties.

Dr. George Ellery Hale, who has been honorary director of the observatory since his retirement in 1923, will study with Dr. Einstein, it was indicated. Dr. Hale's greatest work was in the field of solar spectroscopy, a field which tended to prove one of Einstein's conclusions that light does not travel in a straight line.

Dr. Walter S. Adams is acting director of the observatory. Arrangements are being made to provide Dr. Einstein and his party with a suite in the newly completed Athenium building, a home for visiting professors, on the California Tech campus.

13 INJURED IN COLLISION OF STREET CARS

Loss of 50 Cent Piece Is Cause of Mishap In Frisco Tunnel

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13. (UP)—A 50 cent piece jingled to the tracks in the Twin Peaks tunnel here late yesterday afternoon, causing a terrific collision between two street cars, and leaving 13 persons in hospitals today—two possibly fatally injured.

The accident occurred when an outbound car started to back up in order that a passenger might retrieve the lost coin. Another car following crashed into the rear end, telescoping both vehicles.

A motorman and a passenger were buried under a heap of twisted wreckage while the tunnel platform was, for several minutes, covered with screaming, injured passengers.

Windows were broken in the attempt to get clear of the car as flames sprang up on all sides. Several not hurt in the collision were slightly injured in the jostling that followed.

According to witnesses, a passenger reaching for money to pay his fare, dropped the coin on the steps of the car from where it rolled back along the tracks. The conductor signalled the motorman to stop and reverse. As the front car was returning, the rear car—a light having flashed green to indicate the track was clear—shot forward.

When the two cars were within 20 feet of each other, the advancing motorman flung on his brakes, but too late. The front ploughed into the rear end of the first car, turning both into a mass of twisted steel and splintered timber.

While the victims were receiving treatment, Fred Boeken, superintendent of the municipal railway lines, began an investigation and apparently laid full responsibility on C. A. Lund, conductor and Robert Hanlon, motorman—crew of the first car.

Boeken declared he would recommend they be dismissed for flagrant violation of the rules. Both men turned in their badges last night.

Arthur Anderson, motorman of the rear car, and Tom Watson, 13 year old school boy, riding on the front platform, were the most seriously injured. Both were buried in the wreckage and Anderson was not extricated for more than half an hour. They may have to have their legs amputated.

Anderson said, and other passengers backed him up, that the signal had already changed from red to green. Just as he passed the light, however, he claimed, the color changed again to red. He jammed on his brakes and stood by his post until he was imprisoned in the wreckage.

Passengers declared the impact was terrific. Some saw the car approaching and jumped back, escaping serious injuries.

In spite of the fire that started after the first mad rush to safety had subsided passengers became

PRINCE OF WALES PILOTS TWO PLANES

LONDON, Nov. 12. (UP)—The Prince of Wales was hailed as the leading royal pilot of the world today after he had flown more than 200 miles and handled the controls of two machines within three and one-half hours.

In addition to piloting the German Flying boat DO-X for 10 minutes over Calshot yesterday, the prince flew an amphibian plane from Hendon airfield to Calshot and return. There were eight passengers aboard.

Pilot Hurt When Endurance Plane Crashes to Ground

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. (UP)—The biplane American Legion, which started an endurance flight yesterday at Jamaica, L. I., crashed in flames today, injuring one of its pilots.

Edward Wiemer was hurt. He was taken to Jamaica hospital, where it was said his injuries were not serious, although their extent had not been determined. John S. Donaldson, co-pilot, escaped unhurt.

Industrial Section Of City Ruined

Hospital In France Caught By Slides and Sick Killed In Beds

LYONS, France, Nov. 13. (UP)—Residents of the industrial quarter of Lyons were evacuated rapidly from their homes today as fresh slides threatened further destruction from a crumbling hill in the Foughieres section.

A recheck at 2 p.m. showed between 40 and 50 persons dead and 12 known injured.

A new slide occurred at 9 a.m. It lacked the destructive force of the three slides in the early morning and caused no further fatalities. It was feared, however, that renewed rains might destroy the entire hill, which has been disintegrating from the infiltration of recent heavy rains.

The second and third slides buried alive rescuers who had rushed to the scene after the first crash and prevented police and firemen from rescuing persons buried under tons of earth.

The scene of the disaster was the industrial district of Foughieres, in the old quarter of St. Jean. The slides were believed due to recent excavations.

Twelve firemen and four policemen who had rushed to the rescue after the first crash were caught by the second, which came 45 minutes later.

The third landslide occurred at 4:55 a.m., preventing rescuers from removing any more bodies, and entombing many persons still living, who were calling for aid from under the debris.

In issuing the call yesterday the judge declared that in the opinion of the court the public interest required a grand jury to be drawn and impaneled. Of the 30 persons who were called for duty on the grand jury panel by County Clerk J. M. Backs in accordance with the orders of the court, 19 will be selected to act on the matters which may be brought before them.

CARTER TO ANSWER SHOOTING CHARGE

Robert Carter, Yorba Linda youth, accused of assault with a deadly weapon, in the shooting of four Yorba Linda boys on the night of November 5, waived his preliminary examination in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning and was held to answer to the superior court. Bail of $2000 was made.

Carter is alleged to have shot Phillip Lisch, Harold Stambro, Henry Chance and Winifred Schulte, when the four boys played a belated Halloween joke at the Carter home by throwing metal milk bottle tops on the front lawn.

Lisch was shot in the face and will lose the sight of both eyes, while Stambro lost the sight of one eye, it was reported. They are in the Fullerton General hospital, where they were taken soon after the shooting. The other two youths were shot in the back. A .12 gauge shotgun was used.

calm and filed quietly out of the tunnel.

Meanwhile firemen and police arrived and set about the business of extinguishing the flames and releasing Anderson and young Watson.

"I did my best. She was clear and I went ahead. I couldn't help it," Anderson moaned as he was brought out.

The accident coming at the peak of the homebound rush, held up traffic for blocks.

Vanderhavel Held To Answer Charge Of Stealing Auto

Henry Vanderhavel, Santa Ana man, arrested in San Diego several days ago on a charge of grand theft in connection with the taking of an automobile owned by the Vaughn car agency here, was held to answer to the superior court this morning in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court after the charge had been reduced to driving a car without the owner's consent.

Two girls, May Jones, and her sister Helen, arrested on the same kind of charge, were dismissed.

According to officers, John Ham-ler, who rented the car from the Vaughn agency, reported that Vanderhavel and the two girls kicked him out of the car near Tustin and took the machine south. San Diego officers were notified, located the trio and arrested them for sheriff's officers here. The car has been recovered.

Kratz Is Found Guilty By Jury

The jury which heard evidence in the second trial of Albert Kratz, charged with a statutory offense against his own daughter, a 14-year-old girl, required less than an hour Wednesday to reach a verdict of guilty. The verdict carried a recommendation for imprisonment in the state prison. Judge James L. Allen, in whose court the trial was held, set November 17 for the pronouncement of judgment. The jury in the previous trial was unable to reach an agreement.

LINGENFELTER IS ON TRIAL TODAY

The guilt or innocence of Frank Lingenfelter, charged with robbery in connection with the alleged hold-up at St. Ann's inn on the night of April 28, when a man took $38 from the night clerk at the point of a gun will be determined by a jury before which his trial began today in the court of Judge G. K. Seovel.

Fred Holland, night clerk of the inn, was on the witness stand today and told the story of the appearance of the man and the money while a gun was jabbed in the small of his back. The defendant was a former clerk at the hotel and had been in trouble once before. He recently completed a term in the Los Angeles county jail on a charge of petty theft.

Are your Youngsters Under-Breakfasted?

The heavy American breakfast is a thing of the past. This is probably a wise change.

But the American temperament goes to extremes. The skimpy breakfast is as bad as the heavy one.

Young, growing bodies need H-O Oats. It is the balancing food for under-breakfasted folks.

New style H-O cooks in 2 to 3 minutes... the quickest hot breakfast. H-O Oats are toasted and the flavor stirs the appetite. Even a small dish added to the morning meal demonstrates the "staying" quality of this remarkable cereal.

The Hecker H-O Company, Inc. Buffalo, N. Y.

We, the sponsors of H-O, respect the oat so highly that we give it the most exacting preparation known to the modern civilized world.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

One of your supreme responsibilities is to see to it that with God's help, you protect the life of your home against a spirit of gloom. Because of the grief which all the family share, there is danger that joyousness shall flee away from the household. You must do your utmost to see that the going on to greater responsibilities of one member of the household shall not serve as a reaction for the rest of you to relinquish some of your most important duties. Manifesting a spirit of faith and sunshine is not a mere luxury; it is a paramount duty.

HOME OF JOHN TURTON SCENE OF OPERATION

Waiting only a few days after he had robbed the guests at the home of Otto A. Jacobs, 2214 Greenleaf street, Santa Ana, "society" burglar last night stole seven pocketbooks, property of guests at the home of John Turton, 1325 Martha avenue, according to a report filed today with the city police.

Three of the purses were recovered this morning from a field where they had been tossed, after being rifled for cash, off North Baker street.

The thief used the same methods he has employed here in the past several years. Selecting a home where a party is being given, and taking advantage of the noise and talking in another part of the house, he opened a bedroom window and removed the purses of most of the women guests.

He then took the purses away, rifled them for the money in them and tossed them away.

A total of approximately $50 in cash was taken from the seven purses stolen last night, while the purses themselves represented a value of approximately $100.

The purses were the property of Mrs. Everett Cornell, of 818 Hickory street, which contained $4 in cash and was worth about $20; Mrs. Ed Ehlen of 1214 Steward drive; Mrs. Amos Hardy, of 1007 West Camille street; Mrs. Lyman Sargent, of 216 Pomona street; Mrs. Roy Gowdy, of 1014 West Camille street; Mrs. Anna Garver, of 1108 West Walnut street, and Mrs. R. G. Lewis, of 1422 Cypress street. The pocketbook of Mrs. Gowdy was reported to have contained $6 and a personal check for $25.

The pocketbooks found this morning off North Baker street where they had been discarded by the burglar were the property of Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Gowdy and Mrs. Garver. They are being held at the police station for their owners.

Nothing had been disturbed in the purses found, except the cash.

L. C. Rogers, chief of police, today reiterated his warning to persons attending parties to be more careful of their valuables and said that purses should be kept in the same room where the party is in progress.

Last night's burglary was not discovered until the guests started to their homes. The burglary is believed to have been committed a short time before that, as a suspicious looking man was seen in the neighborhood by Sargent, who came to the Turton home to take his wife home, he reported.

Due to the fact that no footprints were found inside the house, Chief Rogers today was working on the theory that the burglar may have lifted the purses off the bed where they were put by the guests, with a fishing pole.

CAPT. WILKINS TO SPEAK HERE AT EBELL CLUB

One of the greatest of all living explorers in the person of Captain Sir Hubert Wilkins, has been secured as an Ebells society lecturer, for Monday, November 24 at 2 p. m. Arrangements have been completed by the program committee of the society, to present the noted scientist, traveler and lecturer, at the high school auditorium rather than in the more limited space of Ebells auditorium, thus enabling more people to hear his address on "Flying the Ends of the Earth."

Captain Wilkins has probably accomplished more in his Arctic and Antarctic explorations, than any other living explorer of recent years, but his modesty is so pronounced a characteristic, that the general public has remained in comparative ignorance of his contributions to science.

For six long years he worked in these frigid regions, searching for suitable locations for meteorological stations from which long range weather prognostications may be made. For the past several years he has been exploring little known corners of the world, planning and executing adventurous expeditions—and consistently shunning the limelight.

It is only since his return from the latest of these journeys into the Arctic and Antarctic regions, that he has consented to relate some of his experiences and show some of the remarkable pictures of his polar flights. But even his limited lecture tour upon which he has embarked since his first address before the American Geographic society, New York City, does not command all his attention and interest for he is already completing plans for a submarine, a voyage which is to be undertaken early in the summer of 1931.

Co-operating with him in this remarkable plan, the United States government has presented Captain Wilkins with one of the obsolete submarines which is now being made ready for the hazardous undertaking.

By the terms of the "gift," Captain Wilkins agrees to pay a rental of one dollar a year and to return the submarine within six years in order that it may be scrapped by our government in accordance with the agreements made in the London Naval treaty, recently approved by our senate. Wilkins hopes to have his work finished and some of the meteorological stations established before the six year term is up.

In the course of his lecture in Santa Ana under the Ebells banner, the explorer-scientist will outline some of his plans for the expedition, as well as relate amazing details of his earlier travels and airplane flights in the region of endless ice and snow.

He made his first airplane flight in the Antarctic in November, 1928, flying 1500 miles over Graham Land, establishing the fact that this is not a part of the Antarctic continent, but an archipelago of unconnected islands. Altogether he has flown over 6000 miles in that region, with an additional 15,000 miles to his credit in the Arctic.

Tickets for his lecture in this city, will be available from any Ebells member and reserved seat sales will be made from the Santa Ana Book Store. A special price will prevail for school students, to whom his lecture will bring matters of inestimable value.

TWO SUITS FOR DAMAGES BASED ON ACCIDENTS

Two damage suits have been filed in superior court in which awards totaling $20,000 are sought by persons who were injured in automobile accidents.

Paul Gilger is plaintiff in a suit against W. L. Beemer, et al, in which he asked judgment for $15,000 as a result of injuries it is alleged he sustained early this month in a collision near the Kattella substation on state highway 101. Gilger alleged he received severe lacerations to his face, arms and legs in the crash, which he said were due to the negligence and carelessness of the defendants.

The other suit was filed by Mrs. M. I. Jones, mother of Burton B. Jones, who was killed in an auto crash last February. She asks $5000 for the loss of support and maintenance and the loss of the companionship of her son, who it is alleged was her only means of support. Defendants in this action are Walter Kerns and E. Meeks, who were in court on charges of the district attorney's office following the wreck. It is alleged that Kerns was driving the car at the time of the wreck and was intoxicated at the time. The accident occurred near Bolsa.

At his trial Kerns was found guilty of second degree murder and was sentenced to San Quentin for a term of not more than 10 years. Meeks never was found.

Health Office Is Given Honors In National Contest

In acknowledgment of the work done by the health department in Santa Ana during 1929, a certificate of honorable mention has been received by Dr. K. E. Sutherland, director of the county health department.

The award was made by the United States Chamber of Commerce in the inter-chamber health conservation contest, which was conducted under the auspices of the national commerce body with the co-operation of the American Public Health association. Santa Ana was one of the few cities in the nation thus honored.

State Farm Bureau Poultry Position Given To Childers

W. C. Childers of Santa Ana, prominent member of the Orange County Farm bureau, has just been elected chairman of the state poultry department of the California Farm bureau, it was learned today. The federation is now holding its annual state meeting in Astoria and there is a large attendance from this county. Childers has long been active in county and district poultry affairs.

The Orange county delegation won two of the three cups offered at the convention. It also was reported by R. D. Flaherty, executive secretary of the Orange County Farm bureau. A delegation of some 40 persons from this county won the cup for the largest delegation in attendance at the convention and the second cup was won as the delegation that traveled the greatest number of miles.

BUSINESS GAIN PREDICTED BY BANK OFFICER

ORANGE, Nov. 13.—Business at the present time was discussed at the regular meeting of the Orange Lions club yesterday at the American Legion clubhouse by Homer Cheney, trust officer of the First National bank of Santa Ana. Ivan Swanger was program chairman.

Cheney called attention to a course of study sponsored by the American Institute of Banking in which business is being studied. The speaker said that it had been estimated that from three million to four million men in the country were out of work and that with the earning power of this number at a standstill, a handicap was created, which was being felt. The situation cannot be met by reducing wages, Cheney declared, but a remedy may be found by reducing the cost of production, paying less for raw material, and by a reduction of the marginal profit of the manufacturer.

The present business conditions has been brought about to a certain extent by too much credit, when wages have been tied up for two or three years ahead, the speaker said. Products must be brought down where the buyer no longer feels that he is purchasing a luxury, Cheney declared, and there must be more rapid turnover and less profit.

A great difficulty in maintaining an even level of prosperity is that in prosperous years people in general do not save for leaner time, when they should do, in case of years of business depression, which runs in cycles, the speaker said.

The bank officer said that he believed that the turning point was but a few months away and that while many times after a business depression, it required two or three years for business to become established on a normal footing, the swing to normal at the present time would be more rapid as the country was on a sound financial basis.

A feature of the present business depression which was unusual was that the country as a whole was sound financially, the speaker said. When the swing toward normal business conditions begins, the speaker said that this period would be shortened by 12 months. In nearly all other periods of depression there has been a shortage of funds, Cheney said, a thing which is not true now.

Other periods of business depression had occurred in 1907, 1914 and 1920, the speaker said.

Visiting Lions present were Vic Walker and George Ash, of Santa Ana, Willis Perkins, V. G. Ryland of Whittier.

Louis Schaffert was introduced as a new member.

ROYAL RUSSIAN CHORUS TO BE HEARD TONIGHT

Seldom has a Santa Ana audience heard a concert company of such magnitude and fame as the Royal Russian chorus, which comes tonight at 8 o'clock, to Polytechnic high school auditorium in one of its programs of orchestra, chorus and solo work, and unique native dances. High school and junior college P-T-A. workers were instrumental in securing the engagement of this chorus, and all proceeds from the concert, will be added to the student loan fund.

Directing this company of orchestra members, dancers and a chorus of 20 voices, is Princess Margarita Argeneva Slaviansky, daughter of the founder of the chorus, Prince Dmitry Slaviansky, who was a member of the Moscow nobility, and assembled the first chorus upon command of the czar of Russia. That was nearly 90 years ago, and ever since the organization has attained success in every country of the globe.

The company comes to this city from Los Angeles and San Diego triumphs, and at its appearance in the Philharmonic auditorium Monday night, Mr. and Mrs. Mac Robbins and Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Nalle, active workers in the Parent-Teacher association, made it a point to attend the concert. They returned to Santa Ana filled with enthusiasm for the program and the artists.

"It is one of the most colorful entertainments I ever was privileged to attend," declared Mac Robbins, explaining that he chose the word colorful advisedly, for not only were the songs and the orchestral numbers filled with the unique charm and color of Russia, but the dances were so amazingly spirited and beautiful, and the entire program was staged with such lavish costuming and stage settings, that it was a feast for both eye and ear, he said.

The Santa Anans commented especially upon Princess Slaviansky's directing, remarking upon its ease and smoothness, and the masterful way in which she dominated the ensemble work with almost imperceptible movements of her baton. She has directed ever since the death of her father, the founder, in 1908.

They also found special interest in the work of Ivan Butenoff, celebrated basso who has sung with the choir for over 30 years. His remarkable voice, with its range, commanded their interest and admiration, particularly when they learned that he has the distinction of being able to reach four notes lower than Chappin, the famous Metropolitan opera basso.

Tonight's program will feature quaint Russian folk songs, popular ballads, musical numbers typical of various European countries, and dynamic Russian dances. According to those who have seen and heard the chorus, its program builds up throughout the evening, to a climax that is really breath-taking in its beauty and power.

In addition to tonight's performance, for which tickets have been on sale at the Santa Ana Book store and will also be available tonight at the box office, the singers gave a student matinee this afternoon in the school auditorium, where special prices made it possible for practically every school child in the city, to enjoy the program.

Light Rain Ends Long, Dry Period

Hailed as the first rain of the season was a light drizzle which began to fall early this forenoon, in Santa Ana. Inquiries at Hill and Son's store revealed that the precipitation was not enough to register on the rain gauge. Cloudy and unsettled weather, however, presaged the advent of the wet season with rain possible late today and tomorrow.

MISSING WOMAN FOUND AFTER 75 CITIZENS JOIN IN HUNT

More than 75 citizens of San Juan Capistrano engaged in a search for Mrs. C. E. Taylor, of Laguna Beach, when she dropped from sight at 6 o'clock last night. Her unconscious form was discovered three hours later in a ditch near the R. Y. Williams ranch three miles north of San Juan Capistrano, by J. W. Anderson, a truck driver of Los Angeles.

Following medical statement by Dr. Paul Esslinger, in the mission city, Mrs. Taylor was removed to her home. She had been ill for some time and was in Capistrano for treatment when she disappeared. Her disappearance was attributed to loss of memory.

More than 25 members of American Legion post No. 353, together with citizens of the district, participated in the search.

WALTER RANNEY HONORED BY STATE ICE CREAM INSTITUTE

Ranney, president of Excelsior creamery, and prominent in local business and club circles, today was elected a director of the Ice Cream Institute of California at the annual convention held in San Francisco, according to press dispatches received here. The election of a Santa Ana man to the directorate, it was learned, was in recognition of services rendered by him in furthering the interests of the industry. Carl S. Plant, of Oakland, was elected president; W. E. Haydon, of Inglewood, was elected vice president, and Jay H. Kugler, of San Francisco, secretary and treasurer. Other directors were E. S. Babue and J. D. Turbow, of Oakland; D. M. Dorman, John F. Eastwood, A. A. Comey, Frank Bothell and Paul Hawkins, all of Los Angeles; W. B. Hage Jr., San Diego; and W. E. The man is to work for the county on the chain gang, the money he makes in that manner to go to the children for their maintenance, the court ruled.

David Jones, charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, was given a 90 day suspended jail sentence in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning. His operator's license was suspended for a period of six months, this being one of the conditions of the suspended sentence.

NOTED LABORATORY FINDS WAY TO END "ATHLETE'S FOOT"

You can never be certain that you are not one of the 10 million people in America today who are victims of "Athlete's Foot" infection — an unpleasant, annoying form of ringworm.

That is because of the infection's comparative mildness when first contracted, and its several peculiar ways of showing itself. You may notice tiny, itching blisters between your toes. Or the skin may become moist and thickened. It may turn either red or white, or even develop a scaly dryness.

If you discover any one of these symptoms, don't wait for complications. Follow the advice of authorities and douse ABSORBINE JR. on your feet twice daily.

For it was proved by actual tests in a famous New York laboratory that wherever this mild, yet powerful, antiseptic penetrates, it not only cures but kills the tinea trichophyton, which causes "Athlete's Foot."

So after every exposure to wet surfaces—in public places and even in your own bathroom—play safe by using ABSORBINE JR. on your feet. For the tiny parasites breed and lurk simply everywhere, and are always ready to attack. All druggists, $1.25. W. F. Young, Inc., Springfield, Mass.—Adv.

CITIZENS WILL DISCUSS SITE OF NEW SCHOOL

Citizens of the northwest part of Santa Ana have been invited by the Jefferson school P-T-A. to join with that organization in a mass meeting tonight for the purpose of considering the location of a new school in that section which has been promised by the board of education. Several attempts by school authorities to secure a site for the school have been made, but requests for authority to purchase the sites selected have been refused by the city council, acting on recommendations of the city planning commission.

The meeting is to be held at the Jefferson school commencing at 7:30 p. m. Preliminary plans for the school have been prepared by the architects who were working under the funds raised at the elementary school bond election, but further proceedings have been halted by failure to secure a site that is acceptable to the city planning commission and which will meet school requirements.

Sites previously selected by the board of education were at the southeast corner of the intersection of Flower street and Santa Clara avenue, and on the north side of Santa Clara avenue, 200 feet east of Flower street. The city planning commission has recommended a site several blocks west of Flower street, but parents in the district have objected to locating the school west of Flower street, which is now one of the main traffic arteries into the city from the north, because of the danger to children.

It is anticipated that some sentiment will crystallize at the meeting tonight looking to petitions being presented to the city council and the school board.

Legion To Enjoy Dinner Meeting

The regular monthly dinner of the Santa Ana post of the American Legion will be held at the Legion hall on North Broadway street tonight. Dinner is to be served by the auxiliary at 6:30 p. m. Following the dinner there will be short business session, when committee members are to be reported by the chairman of the various post committees. Gilbert Wilson, tenor, is to give several solos as part of an entertainment program after the business meeting.

NEW MAJESTIC REFRIGERATOR IS DESCRIBED

An eagerly awaited event has taken place and the new Majestic refrigerator is on display in Santa Ana at the O. S. Peterson company store, under the management of Jack Rose.

According to Rose, leading furniture designers assisted in planning the cabinet. The unit is above the food compartment but is concealed for beauty, leaving a flat top which can be used for shelf space. Hermetically sealed, the unit is dirt and trouble proof, according to the manufacturer. The interior finish is porcelain on steel, with rounded corners for ease in cleaning.

Special features of the refrigerator according to Rose, include flat shelves, so that dishes will not catch on them; self closing door on the freezing compartment; a massive, free swinging single door, with a finger tip latch so designed that it cannot catch clothing or injure the hands; cabinet high enough to permit easy cleaning underneath, with moisture proof insulation to keep the cold in and the heat out; a unit without vibration; low operating cost and a constant temperature of from 36 to 46 degrees Fahrenheit, with temperature regulator giving a choice of five freezing speeds.

DIAMOND BOOTERY SPONSORS PROGRAM

The light opera and musical comedy program which will be broadcast by KREG, Santa Ana radio station, tonight, will be sponsored by the Diamond Bootery of 303 West Fourth street.

Listeners will hear the entertainment from 8 to 9 p. m., when a well selected group of light opera and musical comedy phonograph records will be broadcast.

The broadcast of late phonograph records has become one of the most popular features of the radio programs and the entertainment sponsored by the Diamond Bootery will be among the best.

Book Review Contest To End Friday

Tomorrow is book review prize day for KREG listeners. The book review letter contest, which is to run for this week only, began on Wednesday and will be completed tomorrow.

The first three letters received after tomorrow's book review broadcast, complying with the rules, will win for each writer a book of late fiction. Letters must tell the titles of the book reviewed, the author's name and the names of two principal characters. As an alternate to this type of letter contestants may simply tell the main points of the review.

The book review will be given from 10:45 to 11 a. m., by Mary Burke King. Letters should be mailed immediately to KREG in order to win one of the three prizes.

LATE RECORDS WILL BE HEARD ON KREG TODAY

An all-request program of late phonograph records, entertainment by Elizabeth Reeves Hubbard, a musical comedy and light opera program sponsored by the Diamond Bootery, and a musical program broadcast by Ralph and May Weyer will be featured tonight on KREG.

The late phonograph record broadcast will be on the air from 9 to 10 p. m. Elizabeth Reeves Hubbard will sing from 7:45 to 8 p. m. The Diamond Bootery's entertainment will be heard from 8 to 9 p. m. and Ralph and May Weyer will sing from 7:15 to 7:45 p. m.

From 7 to 7:15 p. m. a 4-H club program will be broadcast. The Shoppers' Guide, with music, will be on the air from 6 to 6:45 p. m., and late news dispatches will be read from 6:45 to 7 p. m.

BRUNSWICK TO EXPERIMENT ON ENDING STATIC

The next great contribution that will be made towards the advancement of radio broadcasting, will be in the form of a radio charting of the higher altitudes in an endeavor to chase the elusive static to its lair, according to J. C. Horton, of the Horton Furniture company, local distributor of Brunswick radios.

Radio manufacturing has now reached a splendid state of perfection, such a state of perfection that the Brunswick Radio corporation feels that it can now devote a certain amount of its experimental engineers' time in research endeavor to discover what happens to the broadcast wave at rarified heights," he said.

Scientists generally have a complete knowledge of what the broadcast wave looks like at normal heights. In fact, the broadcast wave up to two miles, has actually been pictured on paper. The Brunswick survey will be made first in conjunction with attempted altitude records to be sponsored at some 50 great airports throughout the United States.

According to K. R. Smith, noted engineer associated with the Brunswick organization, they have just added to their test staff a research engineer who has done more than three years' experimental work with Opel, rocket expert of Germany, and in France with its most noted rocket experiments are to supplement those obtained through the use of aeroplane and balloon. The Brunswick organization is financing his further experiments.

According to Horton, it is hoped that when these tests are completed within the next year, that the Brunswick organization will be able to present to the radio industry some very vital facts about the broadcast phenomena of which little is known at the present time.

It is estimated that there are between 700,000 and 1,000,000 trappers in America at present.

VAUDEVILLE TEAM ON AIR TONIGHT

Ralph and May Weyer, vaudeville and radio artists from Chicago, will present a short musical program over KREG from 7:15 to 7:45 p. m. today. They are now playing the West Coast theaters throughout California and expect to locate in Santa Ana.

Previous to vaudeville activities in the East Mrs. Weyer was a staff artist at WFL and KTW at Chicago, and also was instructor in radio broadcasting at WSEB, Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Weyer feature the accordion and trumpet and harmony singing. Their program will consist of both semi-classical and popular jazz music.

THROUGH A THOUSAND EVEN GRADATIONS FROM THE LOWEST BASS NOTE TO THE HIGHEST TREBLE

TONE CONTROL

on the new BRUNSWICK RADIO

The new Brunswick Radio gives you perfected Tone Control instead of a device which permits only 3 or 4 pre-determined changes in tonal emphasis. With it you can make a thousand even gradations of tone, changing emphasis from the heaviest bass notes through the whole musical scale to the silvery high notes of the treble.

But Tone Control is only one of the many new features on Brunswick Radio. Most important of all is the UNI-SELECTOR, a radically new method of operating the set, so that every function is centered in this one control. The All-Armored Chassis; and the rigid Tuning Scale, which always brings in stations at exactly the same point on the scale, are other features which will add to your pleasure in owning a Brunswick Radio.

Be sure to hear and operate this great new instrument before you buy. It has the full rich tone for which Brunswick has always been famous—and its new features make it more than up-to-date—it is literally the "Radio of the Future!"

WEST WINDS

Here and There in Local Sport

By EDDIE WEST

No athletic competition, intercollegiate or interscholastic, has been more fiercely contested than Santa Ana-Long Beach football. High schools of these cities have been struggling ever since 1911—and neither has been able to muster a convincing edge.

Fifteen times they have met on the gridiron. Six times Long Beach has won. Four times Santa Ana has won. Five times they have tied.

Saturday's foray at Poly field will be their sixteenth set-to. Stranger still, records reveal that almost to the Saint goal four times but the Hares lacked that last sustained punch to put it across.

GUTIERREZ SUSPENDED
"For lack of ability," Humberto Gutierrez, Mexican lightweight, has been suspended indefinitely by the California state boxing commission. The powers-that-be were lenient when they "set" the fighter down for "no ability."

Cruel as they may sound, the facts are that Gutierrez proved himself a quitter. He simply laid down to Ritchey King at the Orange County Athletic club here two weeks ago in the bout that got him in trouble.

Fellows who ought to know claim Gutierrez can knock King stiff any time they start—if Gutierrez is leveling.

Consequently, it is refreshing to note that now and then the commission kicks out of the game some culprit who tries to further impair the racket's name.

HERE AND THERE: Santa Ana eyes will be at Poly field Saturday and its ears will be attuned to San Diego for reports of the Alhambra-San Diego contest, pairing two undefeated prep eleven. Alhambra has run amuck this season. Its record compares favorably with that made by George Hobbs' marvelous club of two years ago, the one Ory Mohler paced and the one that crushed Santa Ana's titular aspirations, 47-7. . . . It develops that the score of the Alhambra-Fullerton game last week was 32-0 and not 52-0, as reported in Los Angeles newspapers. . . . "Dink" Templeton, Stanford track coach and football scribe, writes in the San Francisco Call that Ray Dawson of Santa Ana will be an All-American guard "just as soon as he learns to think faster". . . . Compton and Woodrow Wilson high schools are sick of Coast Preparatory league beatings and want to go back to the Bay league, but expect to try the faster league one more year. Their problem is whether student morale can be maintained at high peak in the face of repeated defeats. . . . Zenaydo Chavez, young Santa Ana welterweight, was promised a bout in San Diego with Sammy Jackson if he beat Tommy Huffman at Wilmington last night. He got a draw. Chavez seems to have no difficulty.

The last three games have been deadlocks—6 to 6 in 1927, 0 to 0 in 1928 and 0 to 0 again last fall. The Saints had all the better of the 1928 affair which they should have won. They made the staggering total of 269 yards from the line of scrimmage as against 62, and 11 first downs as against 2. Santa Ana carried the ball to the goal line three times, then left it there.

Long Beach had a tremendous edge last year. The Jackrabbits made 208 yards to Santa Ana's 123, eight first downs against five. Their great passing attack took the pellet

Rain or shine, the Orange County Athletic club will run off its "big shot" boxing show of 32 rounds tonight.

With slightly reduced prices in effect, the Delphi club promises four six-round and two four-round attractions.

Johnny Previs, a real soccer and a southpaw, too, meets in the main event the hard-hitting Joe Galvis, said to be junior lightweight champion of the Philippines.

Galvis substitutes for Jimmy Alvarado, who ran into double trouble early this week.

Hurrying to the bedside of his dying grandmother, Alvarado crowded off the highway a motor car with three passengers, according to "Pop" Barrett, matchmaker for H. T. Foust and the Orange County 40 at 8 society, allied promoters here. In a subsequent rough-and-tumble, Alvarado was

S. A. GRIDMEN TO BE DINNER MEET GUESTS

Notified at the last minute that Coach Howard Jones of the University of Southern California would be unable to deliver an address in Santa Ana Tuesday night, officials of the Men's Brotherhood of the Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church, South, were endeavoring today to secure as speaker some other noted coach for the football banquet at the church.

Lester Slaback is in charge of the banquet. Coach "Tex" Oliver, head coach of the Santa Ana high school, is arranging for the speaker. Coach Bill Spaulding of the University of California at Los Angeles may be secured to fill Jones' place.

The high school and junior college football teams of Santa Ana will be present as well as Coach Oliver and Coach Bill Cook, jaycee football mentor. Oliver and Cook will speak briefly.

Reservations for the affair are being made with Slaback and will be received until Monday night. The banquet will begin at 6:30 and will be served in the church banquet hall. Chuck Schweiss, president of the Y. M. C. A. at Caltech and speaker at many Santa Ana events, may be secured for the program, as may Dick Love, expert piano-accompanist of Los Angeles.

COOK TRIES TO FIND STRONGER TEAM OF DONS

With only one day of rehearsal remaining before the important clash with Los Angeles junior college, Saturday, Coach Bill Cook is experimenting with his Santa Ana junior college football team, trying to find some playing combinations that will "click" against the Dons and keep the Padres in the running for the conference title.

Several lesser lights who have adorned the bench during most of the earlier games, are being regarded favorably by Coach Cook and he indicated today that they would receive plenty of action Saturday and might even start. Perhaps the most surprising player is Harold Perry, a red headed guard who is threatening to get the jump on the six guards who have been pastiming so far. Perry is hefty and aggressive and having never played much football before this season, is just rounding into form. Philip Martin, Gene Olsen, Kermit McCoy, Curt McCoy, Harry Lake and Wayne Bartholomew are the other guards.

Shigekawa Crowds Hapes
Kiyoshi Shigekawa at fullback, Erv Watkins at halfback and Bill Harkleroad at halfback and end, are the other prospects. All three have seen a smattering of action this season, especially Harkleroad, who is about the most versatile man on the squad. He is small and speedy and seems to have an unusual faculty of hanging on forward passes.

Shigekawa shows more fight and power than perhaps any man on the squad and is an even choice to crowd Clarence Hapes, the 220-pound fullback, from the starting lineup. Hapes is usually good for three or four yards from the line but the scrappy Anaheim Japanese can run the ends or crash the line and keep on running in the open.

As for Watkins, the star Tustin half-miler has improved remarkably at halfback. Watkins should give Los Angeles plenty of trouble leading the Don interference. Franklin Van Meter is pretty well fixed in the other halfback post. He is also quite a "handy-andy," calling signals in the huddle, running interference and showing ability at

PICK FORD AM TO WIN FROM GAELS IN EAST

The west coast collegians are not as strong as last year. The defeat sustained at the hands of California, a team which was humbled by Southern California, 74-0, does not speak well for the grade of playing of the lads "Slip" Madigan has under his tutelage this autumn.

St. Mary's has been a thorn in the side of most of the big west coast schools in past season. Each year one or more of the Pacific Coast conference eleven would fall victim to the powerful offense of the younger and less known rival.

Things got to such a pass that it was difficult for St. Mary's to schedule contests. The big fellows feared the Jesuits, while the small ones shunned them like they were some contagious disease.

Their splendid record last fall gained them national recognition. It was in the hopes of gaining intersectional honors that they decided to come east to grapple with Fordham.

A team making the trip across the United States means the loss of much valuable practice. Nothing tends to disorganize a squad so fast as the passing up of a couple of practice periods.

Some may say Knute Rockne keeps his Irish team on the train most of their playing season. But the trips taken are short, compared to the 3000 miles' jaunt across the United States which St. Mary's is taking. Also, the change in climate is an added disadvantage to any team to make such a long jump.

The east has invaded the west coast a number of times. Few eastern teams have brought home the bacon. The great difference in atmospheric conditions here and of the west coast has helped more than anything else in keeping the east from winning. What is true of the east traveling west may be said of the west.

MEISINGER AND OLSEN ARE OUT WITH INJURIES

"Tex" Oliver was as gloomy as the weather today. Although seldom given to moaning, the Santa Ana high school football coach entered the "crying room" just as soon as he took stock of his squad.

As a result of his investigation, he discovered that:

(1) Garth Olsen, first string running guard, is definitely out of the Long Beach game here Saturday with a badly bruised ankle. Olsen will be lucky to regain condition for the Fullerton game Thanksgiving day.

(2) "Gib" Meisinger, the man who was to be a surprise starter at center against Long Beach, is definitely out for the rest of the season as a result of a dislocated elbow suffered in "dummy scrimmage" yesterday.

(3) Joe Preininger, first string tackle, has a sprained ankle and may not be able to play Saturday, Wilson's ankle sprained.

(4) Max Wilson, substitute halfback, also has an ankle sprain and is not likely to see action in the Jackrabbits "natural."

(5) Harold Pangle, veteran blocking backfield star, the Erny Pinckert of the Saint machine, is favoring a sore shoulder and will not be 100 per cent efficient Saturday although there is no question but that he will be at right halfback in the starting lineup.

Orlan Landreth, Long Beach's coach, was pretty blue yesterday when he learned that Johnny Morrow, his best passer and a fine blocking halfback, might not play because of an injured leg.

But Landreth's state of mind was serene as compared to that of Oliver who saw most of his finest material rendered hors de combat with one fall swoop.

That Olsen would not be able to play was known since Monday when the guard showed up with his ankle in terrible shape, but the Meisinger, Preininger, Wilson and Pangle injuries, at least the seriousness of them, cropped up yesterday.

Meisinger Definitely Out
Meisinger, an end, was to be a surprise starter at center instead of Roy Harvey who has played the "snapperback" position most of the season. Just a fair wingman, Meisinger found himself when shoved in at center. He saw his first real action in the middle of the line against Glendale last Friday and worked so satisfactorily that Oliver began grooming him as a regular. Meisinger is heavier and must faster than Harvey who, while a willing worker and a good mechanical player, is slow footed. So are the other Saint centers, Miner Whitford and Miles Norton.

Olsen's place at guard may be occupied by Glenn Minter rather than Tom Beasley, it developed today. Minter, a tackle by trade, has been working out at Olsen's old place and has impressed the coach with his eagerness for action. Minter is heavier and faster than Beasley although not as experienced.

Despite their crippled condition, the Saints looked good in scrimmage against the junior college yesterday. Al Reboin, the Santa Ana captain and ace, was in fine fettle and gave an exhibition of how a good football player can run and pass. There may be some cripples on the Saint squad but Reboin is not one of them. He is ready for the best game of his spectacular career, and if he is determined to win, Reboin is determined to wind up his prep "life" in victory so the Long Beach end and tackles will have a day's work out for them if the Santa Ana interferences get Reboin safely past the line of scrimmage.

CONFIDENCE IS NOTED IN BEAR FOOTBALL TEAM

BERKELEY, Nov. 13.—Following the renewed demands made by Arthur Arlett, editor of the Daily Californian, student publication, that drastic steps be taken to ensure the future glory of the Bear football team, the executive committee of associated students met last night and voted full confidence in Coach "Nibs" Price, his assistants and the football squad itself.

No suggestion was made that there should be a coastwise investigation of alleged subsidizing of players.

A resolution hastily adopted read: "It is the sentiment of this committee that the California football team and coaching staff are deserving of the support of the student body."

It was believed on the campus today that the action of the executive committee would start Arlett out on another rampage against present conditions. Many alumni, apparently in favor of Arlett's suggestion for sweeping investigation, were evidently desirous of putting off such action until after the game with Stanford. Should that be won, all might easily be forgiven the much defeated Bear eleven and its mentors.

David G. Lyon, assistant editor of the Daily Californian, has asked that all football at the university be abolished, and claims that the glamour has gone from the game and that now it serves to lower the dignity of the school.

Arlett contented himself with a plea for an investigating committee made up of students, faculty members and alumni. "It should be more honest than politics and more vigorous than friendly," Arlett said.

TROJAN-IRISH GRID CLASSIC IS 'SELL-OUT'

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13.—All tickets to the Notre Dame-Southern California football game in the Los Angeles Coliseum December 6 have been sold and thousands of applications have been returned, Arnold Eddy, graduate manager, announced today.

There are 88,000 seats available for the game, with another 20,000 under construction, but these latter seats will not be completed until January.

BOY'S DREAM OF FOOTBALL FAME SHATTERED IN WRECK

By VINCENT MAHONEY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—Of course he had dreamed of that golden autumn afternoon when his red-panted legs would flash across some visionary gridiron, while 90,000 persons went wild over Stanford's winning touchdown. What 13-year-old boy hasn't?

His air-castle crumbled today—fell about his ears when he reached under the sheet in his hospital bed to feel his "sore" leg.

That sturdy right leg—the one that was to propel him past impenetrable California tacklers and over the Blue and Gold goal line—was missing, amputated at the knee. He is Tom Watson, 13, boy scout, sportsman.

Standing in front of the "X" car of yesterday's "half-dollar disaster," young Watson received the full brunt of the collision and was plumed with Morotman Arthur K. Anderson, in the wreck-age.

Anderson, "he's hurt worse than I am!"

He lay beneath the wreckage until they could get to him, with never a whimper. It was only when the debris was lifted and he saw his crushed leg that he faltered for a second. "Aw, gee!" was all he said, as he tried hard to keep his eyes from running over.

He refused at first to reveal his name. "I don't want my mother to be worried about this," he explained. "I'll be all right in a little while."

They wheeled him back to his bed at the hospital some hours later. Perhaps he had dreamed the old Stanford dream over again under the ether. Nurses said he was no sooner awake than he reached for his leg, and his hand closed on nothing.

"Aw gee!"
Once again he said it—the near-thing to whimpering a sportsman allows himself, the nearest a gentleman can come to a requiem over the death of a long-loved dream.

The boy is a brother-in-law of Herbert Hoover Jr., and a cousin by marriage of Helen Willis Moody.

CAGLE LEARNS

The other day, in the list of football scores, appeared this: "Tulane, 53, Mississippi A. & M., 0." We looked through several newspapers trying to find out how it happened. But few papers, outside the south, carried a story of the game.

The team that came out on the short end of that one is coached by a man whose name has been in the headlines for several years. Playing football he was an individual star whose exploits in the Army backfield were read by every football follower in the United States. His name is Christian K. Cagle.

PHILOSOPHY

This would be a grand spot to break forth with some philosophy about how fleeting is fame, were it not that Cagle is learning a whole lot and learning it swiftly, is coach at Mississippi A. & M., and he is taking his licking in the light spirit.

"I'll admit that when I was playing, I was concerned almost wholly with backfield play," Chris told New Orleans news hounds the other day. "It seems there is a line, too."

Cagle made the admission with one of his friendly grins. He seems to be standing up pretty well under the reverses. Only 24 years old, he is in charge of a squad that consists of only fair material. He faces his job with no coaching experience. But he is game.

REMEMBERING BOOTH

Cagle told the newspapermen that he was glad to note that his mates back at West Point had remembered Booth.

"Did you see what they did to Booth?" he asked. "You know last year we hadn't heard about Booth. After we scored 13 points in the Yale game, we started to rest. They put in Booth and before we knew what was going on, he helped us score the three touchdowns that beat us."

You may remember that when Cagle was playing, usually two or three men of the team playing against the Army were instructed to "stop Cagle." He was a marked man in nearly every game. Often his experience was the same as Booth's in the game in which he was jostled so severely that they had to bring out the stretcher. Cagle can appreciate Booth's feelings in the matter.

ROMANCE

Cagle was a senior at Southwestern Louisiana institute when he met the girl who was to be his wife. It was in the spring and the girl came to the college dances.

"I just became interested in her," says Cagle, "and dated her up for a couple of the dances. I had already agreed to go to West Point, but after I met her I kind

SANTA ANA 'B' SQUAD TRAVELS TO LONG BEACH

When the Santa Ana high school "Bees" journey to Long Beach tomorrow to engage in a scuffle with the Jackrabbits, they will try to break a touchdown famine that has clung to them tenaciously in their last three starts in coast league competition.

The Saints opened their conference schedule like a house afire, walking over Woodrow Wilson and then bowing to Compton, Pasadena and Glendale in rapid succession because they did not play "heads-up" football. Two other causes for defeats were fumbles and a lack of punch when the pill was placed in scoring positions. Coach Clyde Patton has remedied these two faults, he believes.

Patton will "shoot the works" in an effort to down the Jackrabbits and Fullerton, the last two teams on the Saint schedule, and if he takes them both into camp, especially Fullerton, he will consider the season a success.

The off-tackle play, by which the Saints have gained the largest percentage of their yardage, and a recently perfected passing game, will go far in upsetting the proverbial dope bucket in the melee.

Patton is blessed with a wealth of reserve material and if the sledding gets tough, or the regular roll up a large score they will see plenty of action. They include Bowe and Clark, ends; Mitchell and Manning, tackles; Blee and Durbin, guards; Youel and Birt, centers; and Cormier, Quon, Brown, Tucker and Preininger, backs.

COLGATE-N. Y. U. CHARITY GAME LIKELY. BELIEF

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(IN'S)—Acceptance by the Colgate university faculty authorities of the invitation of the mayor's unemployment committee to have its football team meet the New York university eleven at the Yankee stadium Dec. 6 was awaited today.

Colgate, unbeaten in eastern competition this year, has displayed exceptional scoring power against traditional foes, and at Hamilton the team is regarded as the equal of Eddie Tryon's championship eleven of 1927.

Incidentally, Andy Kerr's team can solidify its claim toward another sectional championship by defeating N. Y. U., providing, of course, that the two intervening games with Syracuse and Brown are also won. While just a bit short of championship caliber, "Chick" Meehan's N. Y. U. eleven is powerful enough to extend and test the best.

An attempt is also being made to match Knute Rockne's "All-Stars," including the Four Horsemen of glorious memory, as well as Carideo and Brill of this year's team, against the New York Giants. Rockne's offer last week stipulated that his team meet N. Y. U., but it is believed that he will consent to the change. With Friedman and Cagle in the New York lineup, that game ought to produce some thrilling action.

"PAY LOAD" ACROSS SEA

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The first attempt of a heavier-than-air machine to fly across the Atlantic with a pay load will be made soon in the plane "Trade Wind" over the Bermuda-Azores route. The plane will carry two pilot-navigators and will be equipped with pontoons for landing on water.

With the exception of the guard holes, the Don line remains intact with Hal Dunham and "Toby" Groenow, ends, Harry Clayton and Mike Santa Cruz, tackles, and Captain Al Kluthe, center. These players will have to play heads up ball to stop the high-powered Angeleno backfield of Captain Christianson at quarter, Lengrin and Pitkin, halfbacks and Brown, fullback.

Dick Swift, star L. A. end, was injured in the Long Beach game last week and will not be able to play against the Dons. Santa Ana can match this loss, however, with the unfortunate absence of "Galloping" Garlock, star quarterback, who was injured at Phoenix two weeks ago and will probably be out for the rest of the season. Garlock, named on the second-all-conference team of 1929, was the most consistent ground gainer and passer on the Padre eleven.

ECONOMY GASOLINE

More Miles to the Dollar

Car... Ford Coupe from Wm. L. Hughes Co. Driver... Harold Weber. Observer... L. L. Brown, National Automobile Club. Route... Los Angeles to San Bernardino, 126.5 miles. Date... October 15, 1930. Fuel... Economy Gasoline... 4 gallons, 3.5 quarts. Average miles to gallon... 26.28. Notary... H. M. Griley.

Ford Coupe averages 26.28 miles to gallon of Economy Gasoline... 126.5 miles, L. A. to San Bernardino and back... no "trick" driving... National Automobile Club Certifies.

UNDER the watchful eye of an official observer, Economy gasoline was drawn from the pump of an independent station and poured into the empty tank of this stock Ford. Every drop was measured. Out on Foothill Boulevard to San Bernardino. Back to Los Angeles on Valley Boulevard. 51 traffic stops. Typical Ford speed all the way. And then the observer certified 26.28 miles to the gallon of Economy Gasoline!

Straight-run Economy Gasoline again demonstrates its economy under every-day conditions on the road. Another fine example of what you may expect from your motor with Economy in the tank. What Ford is to economical transportation... Economy is to gasoline mileage! Straight-run quality has made Economy

Gasoline one of the most popular motor fuels in California. Tens of thousands of motorists will use no other. It makes no difference whether you drive a four, six, eight or sixteen... the extra miles to the dollar are yours with Economy. For Economy Gasoline is straight-run, the "top layer", the concentrated gasoline which is run off first in the refining of crude oil. Naturally, it's a speed and power fuel—as pure as any gasoline made.

Economize with Economy today. Go to the Green Economy pump at an independent station. Over 800 of these dealers are in Southern California alone, on every prominent highway.

The Public Forum

Communications under this heading must be signed by the name of the writer. These communications express the opinions of the writers of them. The opinions may or may not be the opinions of the Register.

Editor Register: I was much interested to see by the Register that the curriculum of the schools is to be overhauled by the superintendent of schools.

Considering that such enormous sums of public money have been spent on public schools, is it not a strange and sad commentary that the superintendent is now trying to ascertain from the public whether this secondary education is a discipline or a training of the mind, a preparation or a means of guidance, or the acquisition of knowledge? In 11 departments, the Register says, committees are to determine the objectives of the courses offered.

Their questionnaire is to list 14 general aims of education, aims so vague and indefinite that they are rather subjects for tea conversation than aims of education.

Let me repeat them, remembering that we are treating of children who cannot understand abstract terms or generalities:

1. The acquisition of fundamental tools and processes of learning and communication. This must mean reading, writing and arithmetic, but it might be stated in plain, common sense language, if that was its meaning.

2. The understanding of social relationship. I do not know just what this means. How could it be taught. It would seem something to be lived instead of taught, but in any case who would be competent to teach it? Isn't this pretty vague and watery to be named as an aim of public instruction?

3. To develop vocational activities. This is utterly out of place in the public school dealing with boys and girls. In the first place, the teacher knows only one vocation. In the second place, boys and girls under 18 cannot be made to understand vocations by verbal instruction, and in the third place a teacher should leave a child's preferences and interests in vocations entirely to his parents to direct. They should not trench upon trade schools. I do not want them to get a boy interested in aviation or printing when I am trying to interest him in agriculture.

4. To instill moral and ethical standards of conduct. This is an incidental of any teaching, but not an aim. It should be done at home and perhaps in Sunday school. It can be done better by example than by words. To make it an aim of public instruction is to divert attention from real teaching.

5. To develop methods of calm and reflective thinking. This is not so bad, but it is just what the century-old curriculum of colleges has aimed at. It is a trifle humiliating for children.

6. The cultivation and maintenance of physical fitness. This is not bad, but it is really assuming the duty of parents. It is the duty of parents to keep their children physically fit, and if teachers co-operate to that end, it is a condition of education and not an aim.

7. To insure reverence for spiritual values. I do not know what they mean. How can a teacher insure reverence? How can a teacher decide what is a spiritual value? It sounds like a good thing, but can such insurance be bought with taxpayers' money?

8. The understanding of citizenship privileges and responsibilities. This again is nothing for a 14-year-old boy or girl to fool with. It is too abstract for the youthful mind. It is not an aim of education, although it is a result of proper education. A boy of the age of these pupils cannot actually understand the duties of a county officer nor the reason for them; he does not know the language in which these duties and responsibilities are stated. I would enjoin common sense in handling children. At a proper time they will take an interest in civics, but not in the secondary schools.

9. The cultivation and maintenance of emotional stability. This sounds like the mail order college offering six easy lessons. I imagine it means self control, and if so, very good.

10. To develop appreciation of the beautiful and the fine. This cannot be taught; it is absorbed from an atmosphere of beauty, and less said of it the better. To name it as an aim of education is to go back to Oscar Wilde. The cultivation of good taste should of course be encouraged in school, but not in lessons.

11. The understanding of home, parental and family responsibility.

ties. Now I think the parents would object to this as an aim of public schools.

12. To arouse curiosity that will carry education into adult life. This is good.

13. To instill an ideal of economic self-dependence. This is good, but it is a parental job and not a teacher's job.

14. Development of the ability to use leisure time wisely. This is improper in dealing with children. Does the teacher know how to use leisure wisely? This is rather too frivolous to comment upon.

But now in the above "aims of education" I do not see a word about concentration of mind, nor about training the memory, will and imagination. I do not see a word about training the reasoning faculty. Not a word about training a boy to master his environment by understanding it.

If I may be excused I must say the program as drafted has a strictly feminine flavor. It is suspected they suggest dropping geometry, algebra and Latin because they are difficult, concrete and definite. This program seems to lean to the literary sentimental and soft side. It is chiefly language. It does not augur well for correct spelling, good English and quick mathematics in our boys.

I have approved Nos. 1, 5, 6, 12; that is four of the Celebrated Fourteen Points. Let me add a few which they have omitted:

1. To develop the memory, will, imagination and reasoning power.

2. To encourage initiative and independence, accuracy and thoroughness.

3. To develop admiration for scholarship and for works of genius.

4. To develop moral courage, frankness and honor.

I fear that one who would call reading, writing and arithmetic the "acquisition of the fundamental tools and processes of learning and communication" would not like my simple language. But, can we not get back to common sense in school matters? Can we not drop the Latin derivatives and talk in plain Saxon words? The taxpayers have been lavish with salaries and funds for schools, and something is decidedly the trouble. Not only judging by the results, but from this call for answers as to what the fundamental aims of education actually are.

Aside from the rudiments, including reading and writing, it is noted that there are for these children, departments of foreign languages, health education, mathematics, music, science, art, English, social studies, commerce, industrial arts and home economics. In addition there must be some history some grammar, some spelling, and save the mark they have not once mentioned geography. Poor kids.

And it is suggested to add to this algebra, geometry, Latin, civics and some odds and ends.

Do the taxpayers wish this kind of instruction? Are they satisfied with the results? If not, they should try to get the teachers to drop all hifalutun language, and talk in plain English to see if some sort of program could be arranged which would have some relation to common sense.

TAXPAYERS.

Editor Santa Ana Register.
Dear Sir: "Human need appeals to the chivalry of every Christian gentleman." Such was the opening sentence of one of the most scholarly and masterful appeals to a great audience interested in social improvement. It was recalled by the story, "Wounded Hero Seeking Job in Santa Ana," appearing recently in your columns.

Such a story is typical of many cities. And many a hero is seeking a job who never served on a battlefield. The demand for aid becomes daily more insistent and judging without pessimism, but aware of facts, it will increase as the winter approaches.

The highways from the middle west are traversed by more or less dilapidated automobiles whose destination is Southern California. Beginning with San Bernardino and not ending even at San Diego, cases are both appealing and appalling. One of the first things many such arrivals do is to sell the automobile for a first month's rent and a few groceries. Then a contact is made with church or lodge which is their natural habitat. This carries them for a few weeks, until there is established that desired date which is "residence" in Southern California, or to be explicit, Orange county. This gives them the right of appeal to the agencies handling such matters. These agencies are in the uncomfortable position of meeting the appeal with due regard to the need and equal regard of everybody's tax money. The hospitals, clinics, both medical and dental, the grocery stores and every agency of human demand is drawn upon.

All of this is met by workers busy day after day, dealing with the throbbing human problems and yet forced by the exigencies of public and political life to remember the favorite campaign slogan of "Reduced Taxes." The great mass of people read such an appeal as comes from your story without the first measure of understanding of the hourly problems of the well organized Social Agencies.

Will you not carry these lines, whose purpose is to call attention to the great amount of substantial relief which is now being dispensed? But, do the best that may be, there creep in those instances which make great appeal to often unthinking sympathy.

It grows upon one, after years of contact, that the courage and sincere intent of Social Agencies and Workers should appeal to the chivalry of every citizen.

SUZANNE CLAIRE DEAN.

Names County Offices To Be Housed In St. Ann's Inn

OFFICIALS IN RENTED ROOMS TO GET SPACE

Changes at St. Ann's inn preparatory to its use by the county as a court house annex are expected to begin soon after the first of December. Extensive changes will not be made at first, it was announced today by Charles Chapman, member of the county board of supervisors, who is in charge of the arrangements in the new building, but a crew of carpenters will be put at work moving and changing partitions to meet conditions required in settling several county offices in the new quarters.

Supervisor Chapman announced that all of the offices which are now located in rented quarters outside of county property would be moved into the annex first. This includes the office of the county farm advisor and his assistants as well as the Orange County Farm bureau, which is now occupying a room on North Main street, and the social welfare department and flood control offices, now housed in a building on North Sycamore just north of the Y. M. C. A.

In addition to these offices, which will be definitely located in the new quarters, Chapman stated that there was a possibility that a number of offices in the hall of records building also would be transferred to the inn to relieve congestion of certain other offices in the two county buildings now housing most of the officials.

While definite decision and arrangements have not been made for any of these changes, Chapman indicated that those who might make the shift probably would include Nat Neff, county highway superintendent; A. A. Brock, county agricultural commissioner; Dr. F. W. Shubach, county purchasing agent; W. K. Hillyard, county surveyor, from the hall of records, and W. H. McPhee, sealer of weights and measures, from the court house.

Changes in the court house which are being considered, according to Chapman, include moving the offices of W. C. Jerome, auditor, to the hall of records and changing the supervisors' room to the present auditor's quarters, thus making room for expansion of the office of County Clerk J. M. Banks, which now adjoins the supervisors' room.

Supervisor Chapman stated that the requests of veterans' organizations and other outside organizations which have asked for quarters in the inn, would be considered after all county offices have been provided for. Requests for use of the dining room and kitchen have been made by the G. A. R., while requests for quarters in the inn have been made by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Spanish American War veterans. The county historical association and women's clubs of the county have asked the supervisors for space for a museum in the inn.

The inn recently was purchased at a price of $140,000. Possession is to be taken December 1, but the inn corporation has been granted permission to conduct a sale of furnishings and equipment December 1, 2 and 3.

FARM BUREAU PLANS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

The three day membership campaign of the Orange County Farm bureau will begin with a membership dinner to be given to the solicitors on Monday, at Ketter's cafe at 6:00 p. m. Outside speakers will tell the story of the farm bureau achievement in the state and nation. Plans and projects for the drive also will be outlined.

The campaign proper will start on Tuesday, at 8 a. m. in the morning and continue on the 19th and 20th. Solicitors will assemble in each center at a designated place and a representative from the Farm bureau will be present to give out the necessary material for the drive. To conclude the first day of the campaign, teams in each center will meet at 5:30 p. m. for dinner at a designated place when reports of the drive will be given to the center president or campaign chairman. Work will be carried on the 19th and 20th in practically the same way as on the 18th.

RUMORED SALE OF SUGAR FIRM NOT CONFIRMED

Inquiries at the local offices of the Holly Sugar corporation failed to confirm rumors circulating here in the past few days to the effect that the corporation has been sold to or merged with a large combine, or is planning to suspend operations in and about Santa Ana.

Local officials stated that no word has been received here of any impending changes either in ownership or in operation, and that preparations are already being made to handle the next season's beet crop. It was added, however, that changes in organization as well as in operations may be effected at the company's head office and that word of the same may not reach here until later.

While the other sugar factory, located on South Main street, has been out of commission for a number of years, the property, comprising a site of about 40 acres, is considered one of the most valuable within the city on account of water-bearing lands, it was revealed.

Poly Hi and Jaycee Notes

Tryouts are being held every Tuesday evening for a junior college men's quartet to go on a proposed Christmas tour. Miss Myrtle Martin, head of Jaycee music department, is making this tour possible.

The Press club directory will be ready for distribution next week and will be given to all those holding student tickets or signed pledges. All others will have to pay 25 cents. This book is being edited by John "Sky" Dunlap and printed on the junior college press under the direction of T. E. Williams.

Miss Elva Cook has been elected president of the Tavern Tatters, literary club, to take the place of Bill Reinhardt, who was compelled to resign because of other work. Miss Phyllis O'Connor was elected secretary to fill the vacancy left by Miss Cook.

Three hundred and eighteen associated student tickets have been sold, with 46 students holding temporary tickets and 17 members of the faculty being ticket holders.

Last Friday at the debate tryouts Frank Miles, Miss Joanna Day, Lewis Bates and Harvey Anderson were chosen. Bates and Miles will take the affirmative with Miss Day and Anderson the negative. The question for the first round, scheduled for December 5, is "Resolved, that American industry should adopt the 40-hour week."

Members of the Shea Shell Shocial club are working on a club bulletin consisting of interesting events that happen in chemistry classes, and any other amusing incidents that may happen. This bulletin is to appear every two weeks, with two members of the club in charge.

The Engineers club met yesterday in the woodshop to discuss plans for a trip to Yosemite National park over the Christmas vacation. Merwin Carmen gave a talk on the construction of the pipe organ and Fred Eley discussed the problem of working during the summer.

GOOD DAY FOR EL TORO

Certain small Spanish towns that cannot support a bull ring improvise one by turning a bull loose in the street and letting amateur toreros try their hands with him. This picture, taken at the village of Valdemoro, shows the wind-up of such a festivity, with "El Toro"—the bull—winning practically all of the honors and the would-be bull fighters shinning up the walls at top speed.

FIFTEEN GOLD STAR MOTHERS D. A. V. GUESTS

Fifteen Gold Star Mothers of Orange county were honored guests last night of 150 members of the Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, and the auxiliary of the organization, at a meeting in the Legion hall on North Birch street.

The sympathetic feeling of the disabled veterans for the mothers of boys who lie in France was displayed when each honored guest was escorted to the refreshment room by a member of the chapter and introduced individually to the assemblage.

Mrs. Ella C. Pickard, president of the Jack Fisher auxiliary, called on several of the mothers to relate their experiences on their recent trip to France. Mrs. Windheim, of Huntington Beach, recently elected first president of the Orange county chapter of Gold Star Mothers, expressed the hope that every mother would join the organization and that success would attend the organization.

Those present enjoyed a program presented by pupils of Miss Lorene Cuddy, Mildred White and Junior Kavenagh, juvenile members of the cast, presented a group of songs, dances and readings. "Andante Finale," from Lucia, was played as a piano solo by Bernard Fields. Chorus numbers by the Melody Boys were followed by selections given by a double mixed quartet.

A corsage of blue and gold, presented to each of the Gold Star Mothers, blended with the color scheme carried out in the table and hall decorations.

Those present were Mrs. Iona S. Sharp, Mrs. Martha Elliott, Mrs. E. H. Lamb, Mrs. Grace Lanning, Mrs. T. J. Stull, Mrs. Jennie Graves, Mrs. Mary Croal, Mrs. Clara Rozelle, Mrs. A. G. Sudduth, Mrs. W. W. Gardner, all of Santa Ana; Mrs. Ida E. Canady, Orange; Mrs. G. W. Sherwood, Fullerton; Mrs. Eliza Rothrock and Mrs. Carrie Johnson, of Anaheim; and Mrs. Bessie Windheim, of Huntington Beach. PLAN HIGHWAY AND HOTEL FOR MEXICAN AREA

Construction of a boulevard highway from the Mexican border line to Ensenada at a cost that will exceed a million dollars, and the erection of a new $300,000 hotel at the Mexican seaside resort, in addition to the new million dollar hostelry already constructed, are among the improvement projects under consideration by Lower California business interests, according to Charles Forbes, retired Los Angeles business man, who visited Santa Ana today on business matters.

Before coming to Los Angeles, Forbes was connected with the Mexican Land and Colonization company of Lower California, maintaining offices at Ensenada. Forbes has large property holdings in Ensenada, in which ownership he is associated with several well known Los Angeles business men.

The new hotel, to be located on the bay front, will be financed by a syndicate of Los Angeles business men, headed by Joseph Messner. Forbes stated, adding that construction will begin as soon as the plans have been completed by the architect.

In connection with the proposed road construction, Forbes stated that certain business interests had indicated a willingness to finance the construction of a first class boulevard from Tia Juana to Ensenada, provided they would be permitted to charge a toll for the use of the same. This suggestion was not favorably entertained by the Mexican government for the reason that a toll road would work a distinct hardship on bona-fide residents of the country, who are traveling in the ordinary course of business occupations.

The proposed road will follow the route of the present highway, eliminating certain curves and will be wide enough to allow the passage of several vehicles moving in opposite directions. It was explained. Because of the cost involved, it has been proposed to use macadam instead of paving for the surface, the macadam to be replaced with paving when sufficient funds are available.

Plan Philippine Society Meeting At Los Angeles

Santa Ana and other Orange county members of the Philippine society of Southern California are planning to attend the annual reunion dinner meeting and dance of the society, to be held this year on the night of December 13 at Hotel Alexandria, Los Angeles. It was learned today. The society, composed of professional and business men and women who have lived in the Philippines, has a membership of about 400, distributed over the Southland.

As has been customary, the annual event is to be held concurrently with the Philippine club, New York City; the Philippine society of California, San Francisco, and the Philippine society of Cuba, Havana.

SPEAKER SAYS BUSINESS SOON WILL IMPROVE

Members of the Breakfast club today heard a prediction of the return of better business conditions, from James Anderson, Santa Ana business man, who as chairman of the program committee for the day made a talk on "Changing Conditions," pointing out why everyone was really interested in the stock market and how business success no longer was due to individual effort and ability.

Anderson asserted that periods of business depression in America averaged from 12 to 18 months in length and that the present one already had lasted 17 months. He attributed the depression to overproduction and overstocking American homes with goods and merchandise beyond the ability of the family to pay, which resulted in a period of cessation of buying while the family got caught up on payments for the merchandise that had already been purchased.

"During the last few months in several lines of manufacture," he declared, "consumption has been growing more than production. The surveys made show this is particularly true in tires and automobiles and the steel mills are beginning to feel the effects and are starting production again to meet the demand for auto steel. This depression caught us rather unawares, for the surplus was in the homes and not on merchants' shelves, where it could be seen and accounted for. People had bought more than they could use and had to stop buying for a while. Now they are about caught up."

Anderson also asserted that business was inevitably drifting into a period of large business enterprise, going from local small business to large national business. "The chain plan of business is growing in spite of opposition," he said. The speaker pointed out that where persons formerly had their capital invested in a cow or a horse or a hay farm, today they had their capital invested in stocks of dairy companies, automobile concerns and oil companies. "Consequently there is more popular interest in the stock market," he averred.

Assisting Anderson on the program committee today was John Britten. The musical feature of the morning was a number of selections by the Dolly Fowler orchestra.

The committee in charge of making arrangements for a new meeting place when the inn is closed, December 1, was instructed today by President B. Z. McKinney to make arrangements for a meeting at Ketter's cafe two weeks from today.

A farewell breakfast at the inn will be held next Thursday, it was announced. The committee in charge of the last meeting is headed by Harry E. Owens, who is to be assisted by Ed Vegley.

SAVING ON THE WIFE

DENVER.—Otto C. Baumbach has proof that two can live as cheaply as one in the bonds of matrimony. He cut down on his wife's expenses and that enabled him to own six cars in three years and enjoy many other luxuries, his wife charges. He even made her cut her own hair and pull her own teeth to accumulate money for his own pleasure, she said in divorce proceedings. She was awarded a preliminary divorce on grounds of cruelty.

DISPLAYS CUP TAKEN BY BAND IN BIG PARADE

S. J. Mustol, director of the Santa Ana High school band, was displaying a silver loving cup today, which was awarded to the Santa Ana musical organization for second prize in the Armistice day parade in Anaheim on Tuesday.

The Saint band was by far the smallest in the parade, with only 29 players, while many of the other high schools had from 40 to 65 members. The additional fact that a majority of the Santa Ana musicians are beginners was pointed out by Mustol, who is supervisor of instrumental music in the Santa Ana city schools.

In the judging, Anaheim won first prize, Santa Ana second, Fullerton third and the St. Catherine's Military school, fourth. This is the second major prize the Santa Ana band has won in Armistice celebrations, a first place cup having been won several years ago.

DO YOU DEMAND GOOD DENTISTRY OR LOW PRICES?

Experience teaches that it is real economy to insist on good quality even if the first cost is a little more. Especially is this true of dentistry, where so much depends on good work. Good dentistry that lasts is cheap, satisfactory and a safeguard to your health. Every piece of work turned out in our offices is good work—guaranteed work, and the price is low, considering the quality.

Gold Star Mothers Added Chapter to National Group

Bonded together through an understanding which broadens as the years pass by, Gold Star mothers of Santa Ana, following in the footsteps of mothers in other localities, have formed a chapter, (number 4) to "American Gold Star Mothers," a national organization. Nine noble parents met in the American Legion hall Saturday, eager to add their names to the list of the nation's members, and to share in the close associations which such a chapter can bring.

The local group, however, has not as yet obtained a charter, as rules for granting charters, determine that there must be at least 10 members. Interest in this first meeting indicates that there are other mothers in the city who will want to join.

Officers elected were Mrs. Beate Windham, president; Mrs. Mary Croal, first vice-president; Mrs. Grace Lanning, second vice-president; Mrs. Martha Elliott, chairman; Mrs. Martha E. Buben, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Susan Lamb, sergeant-at-arms. Executive board members elected were Mrs. Clara Roselle, Mrs. Iona Sharp and Mrs. Emma Christensen.

Meetings will be held the first Monday of every month at 2 p. m. in the Legion hall. All Gold Star mothers are invited to join the worthy chapter.

Lovely Wedding Held In Presbyterian Church

Expressing the springtime of youth in the floral setting of autumn, was the lovely wedding last night of two of the city's prominent young people, Miss Juanita Decker, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Decker, 410 South Broadway, and Charles Haas, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Haas, 602 South Garnsey street, the ceremony finding a charming setting in the First Presbyterian church with the pastor, the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, officiating.

Palms and ferns banked the altar, interspersed with great baskets of chrysanthemums in delicate tones emphasizing the flowery tones of the bride's gown. Miss Ruth Armstrong played the nuptial music, while Miss Dorothea Smith, a cousin of the bridegroom, came from her studies at Berkeley expressly to sing at her cousin's wedding. Her lovely songs were "Nocturne" by Curran, and "Two Souls" by Resler.

Miss Decker entered on the arm of her brother, George Decker, by whom she was given in marriage. She was girlishly lovely in floating white chiffon, her filmy tulle well arranged in coronet effect confined to her hair with a chaplet of natural orange blossoms. Her flowers were orchids, bride roses and lilies of the valley, tied with lacy gauze, and she wore as an ornament, the strand of crystals and pearls which was the gift of Mr. Haas.

Mrs. Lloyd Day of Los Angeles, formerly Miss Neva Decker, attended her sister as matron of honor, and was gowned in pale yellow chiffon with which she carried yellow Claudius de Pernet roses and the bride's gift of crystals. Miss Dorothy Obarr in apple green chiffon, and Miss Dolly Cox of Los Angeles, in dawn pink chiffon, were bridesmaids, each carrying pink rosebuds, and each wearing a quaint necklace given by Miss Decker.

Little Helen Taylor, niece of the bride, was a fairy-like flower girl in a dainty hand-embroidered orchid crepe de chine frock.

Mr. Haas was assisted by Carl C. Newton of Long Beach as best man, while Leo Steffenson and Wayne Hickey of this city, were ushers. Mr. Haas also had given attractive mementoes of the occasion to his attendants; military brushes to Mr. Newton, gold-tipped billfolds to his ushers, and a handsome pencil to George Decker.

Some half hundred guests were entertained in the Decker home following the ceremony, with Mr. and Mrs. Haas and Mrs. Decker joining the bridal party in the receiving line. Mrs. Decker wore wine chiffon velvet, and Mrs. Haas was in sage-green chiffon.

Orange blossoms and bachelor buttons provided an artistic floral setting for the function. Cake and ices were served, with Mrs. Lloyd Day and Carl Newton bringing the beautiful bride's cake for the new Mrs. Haas to cut the first slice.

Departing late in the evening for an automobile honeymoon, Mrs. Haas wore a smart suit in black and white moire with harmonizing accessories, and a corsage of orchids on her handsome muskrat coat. Upon their return they will reside at 1015 West Fourth street.

Mr. Haas is a graduate of Santa Ana Junior college and for the past year has been associated with the Bank of America. He is noted for his dramatic ability and has taken part in many Community Players' productions. His bride is popular in a wide circle of friends, and completed his high school course in June, 1930, graduating from Polytechnic high school. As she left on her honeymoon trip, she tossed her bouquet with Miss Obarr and Miss Cox, who later presented it to Mrs. Decker.

Her program, not the first in which she has appeared by any means, but the first to be given entirely by herself, will begin at 8 o'clock, and will feature song, piano numbers and readings, some of the latter to a musical accompaniment played by Miss Hamill.

Rose Fyleman, Frieda Peycke, Florence Bakman, Mary Carolyn Davis, Shirley Rodman Williams, and other authors whose work is always in demand for expression students and teachers, will be presented in her readings such as "The Canary," "The Peeping Moon," "My Hollyhock Friends," "Things at Night," "I Love to Push My Little Nose," and many others.

Her songs will include "The House With the Rainy Roof," by Lydia Coe; and "The Jap Doll" by Gaynor, while piano numbers will be varied with solos and duets, among the former to be "Springtime" and "Lullaby" by Ellsworth; and "Swing Song" by Erb.

The recital will be open to all friends and those interested in the progress and development of a child who has been acclaimed by those familiar with her abilities, as being little short of a genius.

GIFTED CHILD TO GIVE RECITAL

Little Marilyn Hamill, three-year-old daughter in the Jay C. Hamill home, is to present a complete recital tomorrow night (Friday) in the Unitarian church, Eighth and Bush streets. Marilyn is readings, songs and piano numbers to be included. Marilyn is the expression pupil of Gladys Simpson Shafer who is presenting her in the recital, and studies piano under Mrs. Jay C. Hamill and Miss Maurine Hamill. The program beginning at 8 o'clock, will be open to the public.

Talented Little Maid Will Give Complete Recital Program

While student recitals always possess a certain amount of interest as vocal, piano and expression teachers present their pupils in programs arranged to show progress in study and at the same time offer entertainment to their friends, it is seldom so youthful and so talented a little maid, as will be presented to a Santa Ana audience tomorrow night when Marilyn Hamill, little daughter in the Jay C. Hamill home, 1901 North Main street, will give an entire program in the Unitarian church, Eighth and Bush streets.

Marilyn is barely three years old, a winsome sprite of a child who has an uncanny talent for self-expression. This talent is being wisely directed not only in music by Mrs. Hamill and Miss Maurine Hamill, but in expression as well by Gladys Simpson Shafer.

Her program, not the first in which she has appeared by any means, but the first to be given entirely by herself, will begin at 8 o'clock, and will feature song, piano numbers and readings, some of the latter to a musical accompaniment played by Miss Hamill.

Walters Home Was Scene of Lovely Luncheon

Southern California cities were well represented yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Henry Walters was hostess in her lovely home at 1605 East Fourth street, entertaining Damasus White Shrine members from various parts of the state who served as worthy high priestesses during 1928.

Luncheon was served at an early hour, and table appointments were carried out in a striking black and red color scheme. A central bouquet of brilliant hibiscus was very attractive.

Race horse bridge was the diversion of the day, at the conclusion of which Mrs. Lorene Knox was awarded a half dozen red crystal sherbet dishes as high scorer, and Mrs. Sarah De Normandie received a dainty little compote.

Those sharing Mrs. Walters' hospitality were Mrs. Edna Taylor of San Diego, Mrs. Maude Cowen of Glendale, Mrs. Marie Gist, Bakersfield; Mrs. Elsie Buckman, Fullerton; Mrs. Jessie Dalrymple, Huntington Park; Mrs. Josephine Foose, Hollywood; Mrs. Lorene Knox, Hermosa Beach; Mrs. Sarah De Normandie, Los Angeles; and the two past supreme worthy high priestesses, Mrs. Millie Shaw and Mrs. Marian Heine of Los Angeles.

The new Cafeteria Will Be Setting For Banquet

Miss Dorothy Gowdy, president of the club, will give the address of welcome, and Mrs. Betty Bradley and Mrs. R. T. Dixon, Variety will be added by the Girls' Glee club giving two numbers, "Lullaby" by Brahms and "Mammy's Voice" by Loomis. The spirit of motherhood will be interpreted from the standpoint of the Chinese, the Irish, Italian, Mexican, Russian, Negro, Indian and, last of all, American. Girls giving these talks will be the Misses Ruth Warner, Dorothea Gable, Myrtis Gerrard, Dorothea Dixon, Ysabel Bravo, Ida Raymond, Dorothy Garver, Wanda May and Helen Coleman.

Solos will be sung by the Misses Joy Lee Henderson, Josephine Ayala, and Ann Wetherell. The Misses Ruth Warner, Fannie Standifer and Mary Anna Deaver will give readings. The Misses Evelyn and Nathalie Musto will give a violin duet, accompanied at the piano by their sister Virginia.

Lovely English Brides Claimed at Double Nuptial Rites

When the poet wrote "Journeys end in lovers' meetings," he must have had in mind some such delightful and romantic story as that which reached its climax Tuesday morning at a double wedding in Los Angeles when Miss Gweneth Lohmeyer of London, England, became the bride of Robert J. McCullough, and Miss Isabel Thorne-well, also of London, wedded his brother, Arthur J. McCullough.

For the two lovely English brides arrived in this country on Monday on the Holland-American liner, "Pacific Grove," coming at once to Santa Ana where they were entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Henry, 902 South Baker street, uncle and aunt of their fiancés, Robert and Arthur McCullough.

The nuptial service found an impressive setting in the beautiful St. Paul's cathedral on South Figueroa street, Los Angeles, with the assistant dean, the Rev. Harold C. Thelie, conducting the double wedding. The brides were gowned alike in soft white crepe de chine, and each wore a corsage of snowy gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Robert McCullough and Miss Lohmeyer were assisted by Hugh Henry and Mrs. Lily McCullough, mother of the bridegrooms, while Mrs. Hugh Henry, their cousin, and Albert Smith of Los Angeles, served Miss Thorne-well and Arthur McCullough.

The solemn rites of the Episcopal church were employed, the ceremony taking place at 9:30 o'clock in the morning, with over a score of guests assembled in the beautiful cathedral.

A wedding breakfast followed at the Chateau cafe, with a subsequent reception in the home of Mrs. McCullough, 206 1/2 East Fifty-fourth street. The four happy young people will spend their honeymoon together and will visit Catalina Island, San Diego, Ensenada and other distinctive California points before establishing homes in Los Angeles, where Robert McCullough holds a responsible position in the special agent's office of the Pacific Electric railway, while Arthur McCullough is with the United States Motors.

The two young men, accompanied by their mother, arrived in California a year and a half ago, and have made their home since then with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Henry. They are nephews of Mrs. Henry's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson, 1141 Fairview street.

Their fiancées made the entire trip from London by water, coming via the Panama canal to Los Angeles harbor. A coincidence of the wedding lay in the fact that the date, November 11, was the twenty-second birthday anniversary of Miss Thorne-well.

Pimples and Blackheads Lasted Two Years. Cuticura Healed.

"The trouble that I had was pimples and blackheads on my face, especially on my forehead. The pimples were small and sometimes scaled over. They itched and when I scratched them it only caused more to come. The trouble lasted about two years. I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they helped me, and after using several cakes of the Soap, and about a box of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed in two months." The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Cook Book By a Mere Man

I hate to admit it, but when a man cooks he does it superlatively well. He is naive, too, about his culinary successes, admitting quite cheerfully that he is good, where a woman in the same situation will shrug an expressive shoulder intimating "You ain't seen nothin' yet."

When such a man writes a cook book, it is a work of art and a joy forever. Such a book has just been published under the name of The Gun Club Cook Book, authorized by Dr. Charles Browne, physician-at-large and a man of substance and varied talents.

The recipes in this book make you want to go directly to the kitchen and try them out, while the humor, implied at times, the Rabelaisian in spots, chain you to your chair in the living room until the last word has been read and laughed over. Here is a sample of some of the eminent physician's explanations anent food he likes and dislikes.

designed for party serving. It will make 15 small salads, moulded individually; if chilled in loaf form and sliced thin it might be made to serve a large number.

The minced chicken and shrimp are a nice combination in this salad and fortunately can be bought in such quantities.

Heat the milk in a double boiler, stir in the well beaten egg yolks and cook until slightly thick. Soften the gelatin and when soft stir into the hot sauce. Season and cool until it begins to thicken. Stir in the chicken and shrimp, the lemon juice, and more seasoning if it needs it. The whipped cream is stirred in last of all and the salad is then chilled for several hours.

Serve it on lettuce with a tart thin mayonnaise.

Each one of these small salads has a caloric value of 185, add 100 more for mayonnaise dressing, and you have the sum total of a marvelous looking and tasting salad, but one at which the fat ladies should look askance.

Usually it is egg yolks we have left over; this time it is the whites, so you can indulge in an Angel Food Cake.

You must hurry if you expect to get your copy of the DEEP PORE CLEANSER leaflet free by sending in a stamped, self-addressed envelope—they are going like hot cakes on a cold Sunday morning. This is a marvelous cleanser and will benefit the skin of any woman.

Week End Guests Return to San Diego

Mrs. Hugo Baske and Miss Frances Cooper returned to San Diego yesterday, after a week-end visit in the home of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. E. Neil Stanley, 1457 Orange avenue. On Monday, Mrs. Stanley and her guests spent the day in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Baske will leave at an early date for Nicaragua to join her husband, Major Hugh Baske, who is stationed there for two years, with one year yet to serve. She will sail from San Diego harbor on one of the government transports, to remain for the final year of Major Baske's service.

"CAUGHT SHORT" ENDS LOCAL RUN

The amusing side of the recent stock market is depicted in "Caught Short," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer all-talking comedy featuring Marie Dressler and Polly Moran, closing tonight at Walker's State.

The story, suggested by Eddie Cantor's book, was written by Willard Mack. The supporting cast includes Anita Page, Charles Morton, T. Roy Barnes, Gwen Lee.

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Nov. 13.—Marcus F. Forster, native of this place and oldest son of the historic Forster family, has returned from a five-day trip into old Mexico. Accompanying Forster was Charles Forbes, Los Angeles attorney.

The purpose of the trip was to effect the final step towards regaining possession of some 13,000 acres of land 35 miles east of Ensenada, which is now held by the Mexican government. The property, originally owned by the Yorba family, was part of an old grant. It is now used by two cattle companies, which have held it for a number of years without title. Legal proceedings have been conducted for some time by Attorney Forbes, acting for the heirs.

Approximately 150 people gathered in the auditorium of the high school this week to receive instruction on football. Following a number of school songs and yells, Coach Stanley Gould and John Malcom, superintendent of the school, gave talks on the science of the game. The local team, under the leadership of Coach Gould, is already making a fine record, but the local public is not football minded enough to follow the game, and it was to instruct the fans that the meeting was held. Following the program refreshments were served by the P.-T. A.

A large crowd gathered in the Community Sunday to commemorate Armistice day. The Boy Scouts, under the leadership of Harold Case, member of the American Legion attended the services. Dr. Hugh McNinch preached an appropriate sermon.

LOVERS

George Bancroft and Jessie Landis in a scene from "Derelict," now showing at the Fox Broadway theater.

GEORGE BANCROFT FILM ENDS TODAY

"Derelict," latest picture made by George Bancroft, and an unusual type for him, is now playing at the Fox Broadway theater. The film opened here Monday and plays its last times tonight.

Different from other Bancroft pictures, in that Bancroft is not always the super-man as he has been depicted so many times before, he meets many reverses in his battle to win a girl cabaret entertainer, and when he starts fighting, he finds a man who can whip him whenever he tries.

"Derelict" is the first picture that Bancroft has ever made, and it is probably the best picture he has made. The plot, the acting and the directing is superior to his other pictures, while Bancroft seems to give an even more polished performance.

William Boyd plays the role of the man who is Bancroft's enemy throughout the film and the girl is Jessie Royce Landis, a recruit from the legitimate stage, who gives a most creditable performance.

Aside from the feature a Charlie Chase comedy also is shown together with other short subjects.

The Upper Yosemite waterfall in California drops 1430 feet sheer, nearly as high as nine Niagaras piled one above the other.

"HOLIDAY" CONTINUES ITS WEST COAST RUN

Continuing to break all records here for attendance, "Holiday," the Pathe society drama, which has been playing at the Fox West Coast theater since Monday, continues its run here today and tomorrow.

The picture, considered one of the best of its kind that has ever been brought to Santa Ana is expected to show to more than 10,000 persons before the end of its run comes Friday night.

Starring Ann Harding, famous actress of the stage as well as the screen, an unusually good supporting cast also is shown in Edward Everett Horton, Mary Astor, Hedda Hopper and Robert Ames.

The story concerns a girl who falls in love with the man who is engaged to her sister. How she fights that love down and remains true to her sister throughout the troublesome times she has while planning the wedding, and yet how she wins out in the end, makes the picture appeal throughout, while the dialogue of the film stands out even about the plot itself.

Edward Everett Horton furnishes the comedy for the film together with Miss Hopper who plays the part of his wife, while Robert Ames is the leading man. Mary Astor is the sister.

Aside from the feature, an Eddie Cantor all-talking comedy also is shown together with several other short subjects.

From These Tiny Mountain Districts Come Coffees Unlike Any Known Before

Have you tasted the rare Central American coffees that women everywhere are turning to?

Active Volcano Near Antigua, Guatemala
Heart of the famous region where Folger's rare mountain coffees are grown.

FROM the West Coast of Central America comes a rare flavor in coffee that is captivating the world. We don't want to tell you how good it is. We want you to try it yourself and see.

It comes from coffees grown in tiny mountain districts that leading experts concede produce probably the choicest coffees known today. Nature gives them a rare tang and full mellow body that is unlike any other coffee you ever tasted.

Less than one pound of coffee in 20 grown in the world comes from this famous region. That is why you do not get this flavor in ordinary brands.

The discriminating coffee-drinking lands of Europe take most of the crop. But a share comes here every year for Folger-Flavor.

'Accept a Pound to Try

Just go to your grocer and buy a pound of Folger's. Drink it tomorrow morning. Next morning serve the coffee you have been using. The third morning serve Folger's again. Then choose between them. If for any reason you decide against Folger's, your grocer will refund your money. We'll pay him. That's fair, isn't it?

The man who owned the almond tree said, "You can help me, if you please. All of you youngsters look real strong. I'm sure you won't tire out. I want to gather every one of my fine almonds. I'll be fun to shake them from the trees. I'll show you what it's all about."

"Don't throw your hats up. That's no way to get them down. That's merely play. I have some nice long sticks that you can use. I'll get them quick. Then all you do is reach around and slap the almonds to the ground." It wasn't long until each Tiny had a limber stick.

The others heard wee Scouty cry, "Just watch me, now! I'll reach up high and then you'll better duck your heads so you will not be hit by almonds that will fill the air. They'll tumble down from everywhere." Said Scouty, "You won't need my help, so right near-by I'll sit."

He gladly watched the others work. He was the only one to shirk. In 'bout an hour the whole bunch stopped and said, "We've had enough." The owner thanked them for their aid and then then he said "Don't be afraid to eat all that you care for. You can stuff and stuff and stuff."

The Tines did and then they went back to town. An hour was spent in walking 'round. The Travel Man then said, "What say we whip upon a long train ride once more. The next place that we're heading for is not so very far from here. The name of it's Cadiz."

And so they carried out his plan and soon, out of the train they ran. Said Scouty, "I'll just bet Cadiz will be another treat." The first thing that the whole bunch saw was quite a clumsy load of straw perched on a donkey's back. The donkey sauntered down the street.

(The Tynmites have a laugh at Scouty in the next story.)

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

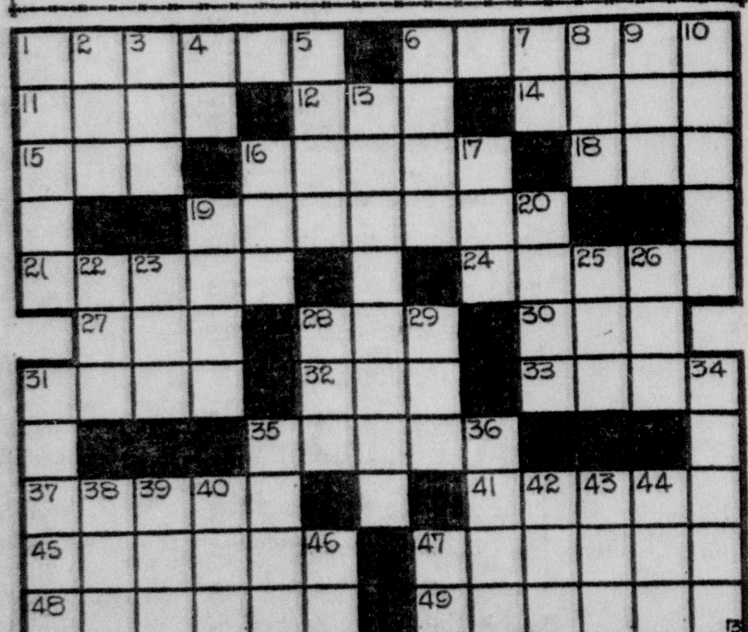

3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

HUGE LOSS BY FINAL TOUCHES STORES CITED IN BEACH TALK

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 12.—The enormous sum of $9,000,000 is lost in stores and other business establishments each year through carelessness and crookedness on the parts of clerks and others was one of the startling statements made by W. D. Rugs, representing the National Cash Register company, in a talk to members of the Newport Beach Exchange club yesterday.

Rugs told of ways in which sales may be created and increased, through psychology, courtesy on the part of sales people, advertising, displays of goods, marking of prices, etc.

Conrad Richter, former mayor and a member of the club, was given a hearty send-off, with best wishes, on his approaching trip to Germany and other parts of Europe. The token was a rhyme written in German, and read by A. J. Twist, the club secretary. It was interpreted by Dr. Richter, who made a fitting response.

Deep Test Well Down 6850 Feet

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 13.—The McCasland deep test at Olive and Twenty-first streets is continuing in a shale and sand at 6850 feet and the well is looking better than at any time since operations began.

There is an excellent oil showing in the trough and the cores appear to be in a genuine oil formation. There is a strong gas pressure and it is said every indication points to an important oil discovery at the well. Coring is to continue and if the present showing holds up for a few more feet, it is highly probable that McCasland will make a production test.

No news of importance is reported from the Superior deep test on Twentieth street two blocks away from the McCasland, but it is reported Superior Oil company officials are much better pleased with conditions than they were a week ago.

VISIT IN IOWA

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 12.—W. T. Lambert, county auditor-elect, and Mrs. Lambert are visitors in Des Moines and Ottumwa, Iowa. They lived in both of the Iowa cities and have many friends and some relatives there whom they hope to see. Mr. Lambert was for a number of years employed on the Des Moines Register, holding the position of auditor for a period of many years. Since coming to this state nearly 10 years ago Mr. and Mrs. Lambert have not been to their former home on a visit and have seized this occasion to make a trip east.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of Pile sufferers have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves or cutting remove the cause. Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation and strengthen the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID from their own drugist with a rigid money-back guarantee.

Dr. Leonhardt's prescription has a wonderful record of success right in this city and McCoy Drug Store writes every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID and guarantees to refund the purchase price if it does not end all Pile misery.—Adv.

HOLD FUNERAL OF CAPISTRANO PIONEER

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Nov. 13.—Funeral services for William Forbes, long identified with the history of this place, who died November 7 at his home in Los Angeles, following a lingering illness, were held yesterday.

A quarter of a century ago Mr. Forbes came to Capistrano and assumed the management of the Mission Inn, the first hotel ever built in the town.

He was somewhat of a collector and held as part of his most treasured possession, a number of rare manuscripts and letters, written by famous personages, including George Washington.

INITIATION OF JURY DECIDES COLLEGE GROUP DEATH OF BREA BOY ACCIDENT

FULLERTON, Nov. 13.—New members of the Nightwalkers' club, Fullerton Junior college dramatics group, will be initiated at a meeting of the organization Friday night, it was announced today by officers.

Persons to be admitted to the club are expected to meet at the junior college building at 7 o'clock and be prepared for an exciting evening, according to Bill Massey, alumni member of the club, in charge of initiation.

Tryouts for applicants for membership were held last week and also last night in the school auditorium. Each prospective member was required to dramatize a passage from Shakespeare to demonstrate his dramatic ability.

Students who were accepted as members without the tryouts due to previous dramatic experience were Gladys Merriman, Evan Lewis, Miriam Sloop, Joe Cook, Bud Wagner, Bob J. Williams, Ella Armstrong and Irene Crow.

More than 50 students applied for membership in the organization, necessitating the tryouts to limit the number of new members.

FEENEY, 19, OF BREA WAS ACCIDENTALLY KILLED WHEN SHOT THROUGH THE HEART BY A RIFLE BULLET TUESDAY, A CORONER'S JURY DECIDED YESTERDAYAFTERNOON IN THE McALAY AND SUTERS CHAPEL.

Feeney, who was a senior in the Brea-Olinda high school, was found dead in the home of his sister, Mrs. Scott Fisher, on Cedar avenue, when she and her husband returned from the Armistice day parade Tuesday.

He had lived in Brea for the past three years and attended the Brea-Olinda high school until a week ago.

In addition to his sister, Feeney is survived by an aunt, Mrs. John Rohn, of Brea, and two sisters and a brother in Texas.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. from the McAlay and Suters chapel. Interment will be in Loma Vista cemetery.

The number of new members, Mrs. Esther C. Litchfield, club adviser, was in charge of the try-outs for new members.

FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(UP)—The stock market finished higher today with the list at the closing having made up almost all of the losses recorded this month.
There was a bit of profit taking but was not of sufficient volume to overcome the earlier gains.
Group movements were more pronounced than at any time since the list started down after September 10. First, the coppers continued their rally of yesterday, increasing in price after the recent advance of 1/4 cent a pound. Then Motor shares advanced, helped by news from Detroit that dealers were replenishing stocks. Late in the day rails rose with the leaders gaining three to five points. Oils began to move up near the close.
Along with the rise in stocks on the big board and curb, grain advanced and cotton firmed up. Bonds, however, continued quiet and irregular. Call money held at two percent all day.
While the various groups were swinging to the front, United States Steel continued forward. It was in the morning, but once it got into the stride it easily rose to around 146, inspiring short covering. Heavy turnover was noted in many individual stocks, including International nickel, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Can, Fox Film A, General Electric, General Motors and United Corporation.

NEW YORK CURE

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(UP)—A brisk covering movement in the public utilities spread to other sections of the market on this curbing exchange today and prices advanced substantially above the previous closing levels.
American Gas moved up almost 3 points on an active demand, while gains ranging from fractions to more than a point were made by Electric Light and Power, Edison, and Edison and Traction. United Light and Utilities Power and Light.
Oils were slow to follow the improvement, Gulf and Standard of Indiana holding fractions below the previous closing levels. Investment Trusts steadied after early irregularity.

SUGAR AND COFFEE

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(UP)—Raw sugar firm; spots 96¢, duty up 4¢; refined steady; granulated 4.65-4.75.

EVENING SALUTATION

The store of the world's knowledge may not be priced in money, for money we make and spend, but knowledge remains always with the race.

—PRESIDENT HOOVER.

THE REAL ISSUE APPROACHING

News comes out of Washington that the "wets" who are opposed to Senator S. D. Fess because of his "dry" proclivities as chairman of the Republican National committee, are determined to force him out of the party committee chairmanship. That Senator Fess does not realize the real character of the issue is emphasized by his declaration that his statement on behalf of the "drys" was a personal matter and not in the capacity of his chairmanship of the Republican National committee.

Senator Fess is placing himself in a peculiar, and in some ways, almost a ridiculous position. After all the years of his political life he still seems to think that politicians and chairmen of national committees can make issues in the country. With this hallucination he went about the country during the campaign, and attempted with impressive manner and with parrot-like reiterations declaring that "prohibition is not an issue," when as a matter of fact, it not only was an issue, but in many places the only issue. Nearly everybody recognizes it except Senator Fess, and now it is such an issue right in the party conclave that the "wets" are insisting that Fess shall resign as national chairman of the Republican party because he is a pronounced "dry" advocate.

If Senator Fess would serve his day and generation in the large manner that he has the opportunity now to serve, he would stand on his two feet and look them squarely in the eye and say that he is glad that the issue is on, and make the issue as the "wets" are making it, and have the lines drawn from Maine to San Diego.

The average political leader is an opportunist. He endeavors in every campaign, local, state and national, to draw red herrings over trails to divert the people and to divide them.

On this present issue in the country, it did not work, and it usually does not work, and on this issue we predict that it will not work. It is going to divide the nation, for those who are opposed to the Eighteenth Amendment and its enforcement are not afraid of making the issue, and the skulking and dodging of the alleged leaders, who are personally "dry" but political opportunists is going to be absolutely untenable.

We believe that no equivocation will be permitted in the 1932 platforms of either party. Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, declared yesterday that if the Republican party platform in 1932 does not call for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment there "will come in the following November the biggest political smash-up that has taken place in the history of any American now living." Well, maybe, but we would also predict that if the Republican party does come out with that kind of a declaration, there will be the same kind of a smash-up, only it will be a bigger one.

This matter will be squarely before the national administration when the Wickersham committee makes its report. It was declared in the beginning that this committee would finally be used as a means to further the ends of those who would break down the spirit of law observance in this country by making a suggestion of a change in the Constitution or the law. Those who took the opposite view contended that the committee was not there for that purpose, but there to find ways and means to enforce and establish our Constitution and law.

President Hoover, in our judgment, was elected distinctly on that issue. The proclivities of members of the committee were well known. Some of them were distinctly "wet" and some of them distinctly "dry." They are pretty apt to make their report in harmony with their views, and we doubt seriously if any of them have changed their views. Congress, and we believe the people of the United States, are overwhelmingly "dry." They are for the enforcement of the law. They are not for "pussyfooting" or making excuses. We believe that if this committee should make such a report, the President will promptly take his stand in such an unequivocal manner for our laws and institutions that the force of the administration will counteract the force of the report of this commission.

We would not believe that this report would be possible were it not for the fact that some of the leading liquor papers of the country are claiming to have inside information as to what the report will be, and many of the breweries that formerly were in operation are preparing to start again, under the belief that this commission will report favorably to them, and they apparently have the hallucination that such a report means liquor and plenty of it.

The Prohibition issue is not yet settled. Politicians will have to reckon with it. That there is a general dissatisfaction with the way it has been working out no one can gainsay. The racketeering in some of our large cities could never have gone on were there not collusion with officials. Prohibition has never had a fair trial. There are millions of people in our country who believe that, and they are going to keep it in the forefront until it has had a fair chance. No doubt there are states that are "wet." But anyone who deludes himself into thinking that this country is "wet" has another think coming.

The time is here when issues should be faced. A man who is frankly "wet" has a right to his opinion, and in so far as he is honest he is to be respected. But pussyfooting, dodging, evading is not going to work any longer. Nor is the politician, with his ear to the ground, never having an opinion or a conviction of his own, going to have the call. Men like Senator Norris, of Nebraska, and Senator Walsh, of Montana, whose eyes are not always on the ballot box, do get the confidence of the people, even those who are not always in accord with them.

At least, there's one thing that Chicago gangsters have to be thankful for—life insurance agents probably never pester them.

ENGLAND FACES A CRISIS

England today is face to face with probably its most desperate and precarious problem. It is the problem of India. And it is being brought to a head by the Round Table conference which convened yesterday and at its opening was addressed by King George. The desperation of the hour is evident in the fact that he did not attempt to becloud the crisis by camouflage. He frankly and openly said to the assemblage:

No words of mine are needed to bring home to you the momentous character of the task to which you have set your hands. Each one of you will, with me, be profoundly conscious how much depends to the whole of the British commonwealth on the issue of your consultations.

There is notable among the reports from London a unanimity among the Indian delegates in demanding an immediate grant of dominion status. This, in spite of the fact that the delegation contains many Indian princes who have in the past been under the thumb of England, further emphasizes the crisis. An open cleavage as a result of the conference will be depressing beyond description. Premier Ramsay MacDonald's government, already reported in a precarious situation, would probably find its days numbered. Should the round table agree upon a plan of government in India it will still have to receive approval before it will have any opportunity for operation.

One observer foretells that the deliberations of the conference may run into Christmas. It is well to become aware, at the beginning, of its importance. In India there are a dozen times as many people as in all the British dominions put together. Britain wishes to retain that market. The Indians offer many difficulties. It is anticipated that if they get the degree of dominion status to which they aspire they will put on high protective tariffs. But if they do not get it they threaten to continue the boycotts against British goods.

The followers of Mahatma Gandhi are boycotting the conference. He is sitting in prison. His influence is felt and manifest all over India.

There are many up-to-date books on India, newspapers and magazines the past few months have carried many articles on the subject. All of us can easily become informed on the critical situation which confronts our sister nation.

A final note on the seriousness of this situation may be sounded through the words of Dhan Gopal Mukerji, author and lecturer and a reliable observer who recently returned from a trip in India. He reports that the question is not "will India gain her freedom, but will she gain her freedom by means of a non-violent revolution and so save her ancient culture, or by means of a violent revolution that will plunge her into chaos far worse than China knows?"

The Cost of Indifference

Oakland Tribune

The most conspicuous fact about the traffic safety problem, aside from the appalling toll of lives and the economic loss, is the way a large part of the country continues to ignore the whole question.

Thus, when the Department of Commerce announces that fatalities in 1929 reached 30,858, or 3000 more than in 1928, there is no great concern expressed and few demands for remedial action. When it is pointed out that each year the list is almost as high as the total of American soldiers killed in battle during the World war, the calm with which the public greets the figures is the most difficult to understand.

Fact is, the surprise and shock of traffic accidents have disappeared. We expect them, and reading of them every day, have even accepted them as unavoidable occurrences in modern life. Upon the shoulders of comparatively small groups in every community rests the burden of carrying on a safety work which prevents the figures from reaching higher totals. Until there is a general co-operation in the program with the widest sort of demand for safety education and enforcement of regulations, the apparent public indifference and carelessness will continue to offset most of the worthy labors of those who are genuinely concerned.

During a period when Oakland's interest was most deeply aroused, it cut down its accident list to a marked degree, establishing a national record and saving many lives. It could do the same again with a united public support.

To Curb Noises of Great Cities

Pasadena Star-News

Definite and well directed efforts are being made to suppress unnecessary noises in two great cities—New York and Los Angeles. A commission in New York made a special survey and study of noises and made recommendations as to ways and means of abating some of the noise nuisance.

Mayor Porter, of Los Angeles, recently appointed an anti-noise commission, and his body has met and organized and is ready to make a survey of Los Angeles and to make recommendations for lessening the din of the downtown streets and the residential thoroughfares. An anti-noise ordinance has been prepared in Los Angeles, and experts are considering this before it is put to passage.

It is sure that there is much unnecessary and preventable noise in cities. Medical experts and scientists utter warnings about the wear and tear of noise upon the nerves of the people. As population of cities increases and the noise making increases proportionately, the effect on nerves will be even more pronounced.

It is to the credit of thoughtful, humane persons that all these matters of public health and comfort are taken up in earnest and all possible aid is said and done to ameliorate conditions.

More Truth Than Poetry

TO A CORN BORER

The dinosaur, of giant strength,
Which bullied wiser brutes of yore,
Was beaten at the game at length
And now patrols the world no more.
Man battled with the great cave bear,
And though he was of giant girth,
No longer comes he from his lair
To walk the earth.

Great beasts have lived their little hour
Yet now but few of them remain.
They have been banished by the power
Residing in superior brain.
And soon the gaunt gorilla pack
Whose members often walk erect
Must perish for their utter lack
Of intellect.

Yet you, who have no strength at all,
Who lack all weapons of offense,
Who through the Stygian gloom must crawl
Because of your incompetence,
Still fight with mighty man for bread
The while you creep the corn-fields through,
And though there's nothing in your head
You lick him, too.

Though you are small and he is great,
Though you are dumb and he is wise,
He does not even hesitate
To take advantage of his size.
How you such wisdom can defy,
And sneer at such a heavy hand,
And still survive, is more than I
Can understand.

Minneapolis Bans Machines

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and

WADDILL CATCHINGS

Now comes word that Minneapolis proposed to "make work" for jobless men this winter by banning the use of machines in municipal projects and using picks and shovels instead. Another city has accomplished the same purpose by employing a squad of men to carry stones from one place to another, and then employing a second squad to carry the stones back again. That "made work" for many men.

Why not "make work" for everybody in some such way? Why not suspend the use of telephone? Then all the idle men could be employed as messenger boys.

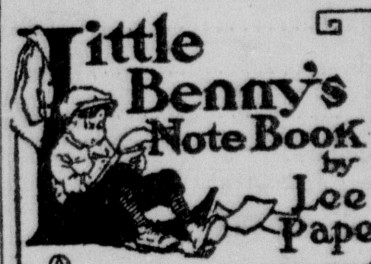

But, you say, nobody would tolerate such a waste of labor! That is true. But all "make-work" schemes are wastes of labor. They differ only in degree.

Now that we are caught in the throes of a depression, we are wasting labor whether we "make work," or leave men idle. But in the future we can avoid such wastes. All we have to do is definitely to plan our needed public works in advance, and hold some of them in reserve for emergencies. But we must have ready for immediate use the land, schedules, blue prints, specifications, and credit.

In the late fall of 1929, the Federal Government staged a dress rehearsal of this plan. It was not a finished performance. Any play is somewhat crude and halting which is put on before the lines are half written, and before the cast of characters has been chosen. This particular production, moreover, was incomplete because Congress—which was engaged in a performance of its own—was slow in providing funds for the scenery. As a matter of fact, Congress never did get around to employing half the required cast. But even this dress rehearsal was enough to demonstrate to a critical audience that this was a real American drama—timely, direct, and profitable.

If, in the future, federal, state, and city governments will plan their public works IN ADVANCE, they will never have to resort to the stupid waste of a "make-work" program. They will never have to scrap their dredging machines and go back to picks and shovels.

Sunday afternoon me and pop and ma went out for a ride in the new automobile, ma driving to practice driving, and after a while pop sed, Hay, look out for that traffic cop, he's signalling you to stop. Being too late, on account of just then the traffic cop had to quick jump out of the way to keep from being ran over, and ma stopped the car so sudden I nearly fell off the seat, the traffic cop sticking his face in the side mad as anything and saying, Whats the big idea, didnt you see me? Yes no, am I suppose to stand still and allow a woman driver to run me down? the traffic cop sed, and ma sed, I dont know what youre suppose to do, Im too bizzzy trying to handle this car without concerning myself with your duties. The traffic cop just looking at her with his mouth open and then rolling his eyes diskusted and waving his arm, saying, Go on, lady, go on, keep going. Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

THE SATISFACTION SALARY

I have written so much lately about the crucial importance of high wages as a way out of economic depression—depression that is due primarily to the fact that our capacity to purchase has lagged behind our capacity to produce—that I might be accused of thinking that bread and butter considerations are end and aim of the human venture.

I admit that I am convinced that the spiritual future of our civilization hinges upon our ability to meet the problem of getting a larger share of the national income into the pockets of the consuming millions.

If we do not, our industrial system will fall into a state of chronic depression and face ultimate collapse.

But the crucial necessity of this does not mean that we must become a money-minded and a money-mad people.

Along with our raising of the wage scale, as one of the factors of prosperity insurance, we must work harder than ever on the human side of the industrial problem.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE PURPOSE OF SCHOOLING

Why do we send children to school? If we thought a bit more about the matter we might change much of our educational practice.

Most of our parents would reply, "To have them learn, of course." Truly. Children should go to school that they may learn. Now what is it they are to learn, what is it they are to get out of the learning? Why must they learn? And how are they to learn? And what are they to do with the learning?

We keep children in schools for eight years. We keep most of them in classes for six months at a stretch. Very reluctantly we allow one or two of them to escape a term in every class or grade. We insist upon a certain amount of memorized, practiced learning from every pupil before promoting and graduating him. Is that why we send him to school? That he may know the names of the presidents, capitals of the states, the parts of speech, the courses of rivers and railroads and be able to write an application for a position? There must be more than that.

I believe we send a child to school in order to teach him how to behave. I mean behave in the very biggest sense of behavior. I would have him know how to control his thought. What he thinks is far more important than what he says, more of the time. Thought fathers behavior.

I would have him know how to behave toward his fellows. He must be generous without extravagance. He must be helpful without being intrusive. He must be appreciative without being complacent. He must honor himself so that he fears to do wrong in the sight of God and man.

The school should be a place that offers many and varied opportunities to its children who are experimenting in living. The teachers ought to be experts in life. Beauty should adorn the building inside and out and beauty should find its expression in all the children do.

We send children to school in order that they may learn to live full, NOT for information. There is nothing so cheap and handy today as information and nothing so scarce and precious as the knowledge of happy living. (Copyright, 1930, The Bell Syn., Inc.)

STEVENSON'S BIRTH

On Nov. 13, 1850, Robert Louis Stevenson, famous British novelist and essayist, was born at Edinburgh, Scotland, the only son of a distinguished lighthouse engineer.

Delicate and sickly, young Stevenson entered Edinburgh University to become an engineer. Disliking this, he turned to law. But no sooner had he passed the bar, in 1875, than he found his interest lay in literature.

His literary efforts were encouraged by noted writers he met at London. By writing magazine articles on his various travels, Stevenson gradually acquired a name. Success first came to him, however, with the publication of Treasure Island, a tale of adventure.

Soon after he married Mrs. Osbourne, an American, whom he met at Paris. The couple traveled extensively, frequently most health resorts where Stevenson sought to cure the tuberculosis with which he was affected.

In 1888 he sailed with his family to Samoa, in the South Seas. There he made a home for himself and acquired a position of influence
